CHALLENGED SENATORS RETAIN THEIR SEATS.

Court Unanimous Against Entertaining the Protest.

Sulzer Counsel Lose First Fight in Impeachment Trial.

ALBANY, Sept. 19—Governor Sulzer's counsel lost their first fight in the high court of impeachment today, when the four senators challenged by the defense were permitted to retain their seats. The vote, which was on the question of whether the court should entertain the challenges, was unanimously against such procedure. The four senators directly concerned—Frawley, Wagner, Ramsperger and Sanner—did not vote.

Immediately following the vote of the court the reading of the long articles of impeachment were begun.

Although Presiding Judge Cullen had the right to decide the question of the qualification of the senators for holding their seats, he did not take advantage of this prerogative. He first expressed his opinion that the objections were not well grounded and then permitted the entire court to vote on the issue.

In addressing the court Judge Cullen said no court had the right to sit in judgment on any one of its members. The judge alone could determine his fitness to sit in such a case as the one now pending, he pointed out. In this, he said, a court differs greatly from a jury, the qualifications of members of which might be decided by the courts.

The vote came after a morning of legal arguments between Judges Herrick and Parker, representing the defence and the prosecution, respectively. Judge Herrick's chief argument was that precedent established the claim that no man might sit both as prosecutor and judge. In reply Judge Parker said the members of the court were here as representative of the whole people, that the people established the court of impeachment in the beginning, and that none other than the people had a right to remove their representatives.

The scene within the court room this morning was vastly different from that presented yesterday. Less than half the seats in the gallery were occupied at the opening of the arguments. Throughout the morning spectators moved in and out, but at no time were all the seats filled. Prospects that a witness would be sworn soon after the articles of impeachment brought a larger crowd this afternoon, however.

The court was called to order at 10:05 o'clock by Chief Justice Cullen of the court of appeals. The roll call showed a quorum present. Senator Wagner, chairman of the committee on rules, submitted the report of the committee, which was adopted without objection. The rules provide for two sessions daily, except Saturday. The hours may be changed from time to time by the court for lack of witnesses or other causes. The conduct of the trial is to be governed by the rules prevailing in the supreme court of the state, and the final judgment of the court shall be certified by the president of the court and clerk of the court.

D. Cady Herrick, leading counsel for Governor Sulzer, argued in behalf of the challenges he announced yesterday he would make to those sitting as members of the court of acting Lieutenant Governor Wagner and Senators Frawley, Ramsperger and Sanner. Judge Herrick stated that the objection to Senator Wagner was based upon the fact that "as acting lieutenant governor he is interested in the result of the trial, as in the event of the conviction of the respondent he would succeed to the dignity, profits and emoluments of office of lieutenant governor.

"There can be no question," said Judge Herrick, "that senators on the Frawley committee have formed and and expressed opinions on every article of impeachment."

Judge Herrick then read the articles of impeachment as adopted by the Assembly and said the defense's challenge was founded on "the right to seek trial by an impartial tribunal, one that is not prejudiced in advance." "Every member of this high court," he said, should be free from even a suspicion of bias," in order that on the trial the governor might be given "such fair treatment as is accorded the meanest criminal accused of the smallest crime."

Judge Herrick held also that the Frawley committee members were precluded from sitting because the rules adopted, governing the conduct of the court, provided that no person could, in effect, act both as prosecutor and judge.

At the completion of his arguments he formally challenged the right of the four senators to sit.

As Judge Herrick closed, Judge Alton B. Parker, of counsel for the impeachment managers, rose and began to speak without notes, "I shall contend before this high court," he argued, "that you are without authority to exclude from its membership any member. The people of the state of New York are sovereign. They said in the beginning that this court shall be composed of the court of appeals and the senate and you are without power to say to any member, whether judge or senator, 'You shall not sit in this court.'"

Judge Parker declared that the framers of the state constitution made no provision for the right of either judge, senator or counsel to challenge any member of the high court.

Citing precedents established in the trial for impeachment of President Andrew Johnson and other executives, Judge Parker argued that the people of each senate district in the state were entitled to the vote of their representative. He recalled numerous instances where members who had served on committees, the reports of which had resulted in the adoption of impeachment articles, had requested to be excused from sitting in judgment, but had

MAYOR GAYNOR'S BODY ESCORTED TO BROOKLYN

Private Services to be Held Saturday Afternoon.

Will Lie in State at City Hall Until Ceremony at Trinity Monday.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.--The body of William J. Gaynor, mayor of New York, who died at sea September 10, lay today in the privacy of his Brooklyn home. In a drizzling rain it was lowered at 4 o'clock this morning from the decks of the Lusitania to the city's boat Correction, and conveyed to Pier A, at the Battery. From thence a picked squad of 100 mounted police formed its escort to Brooklyn.

Their route lay through lower Broadway and the financial section to Park Row, past the city hall and across Brooklyn bridge. Over this bridge, which the mayor had so often trod on his way between his home and his office, the funeral party went with measured tread. It was after 8 o'clock when they reached the late mayor's home. The committee appointed by the city to receive it withdrew; the hundred policemen rode to their station houses, and the body was left with only the family and their closest friends around it. It will remain there until Saturday night. Private funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon and at their conclusion the body will be taken to the city hall, where it will lie in state until Monday morning, when funeral services will be held in Trinity Church.

With the committee on funeral arrangements that went down the harbor on board the Correction were Norman Gaynor, the mayor's son, and Harry Vingut, his son-in-law, representing the family. No other member of the Gaynor household was on board. It was Mrs. Gaynor's wish that as little publicity as possible be attached to the landing of the body. To facilitate this, the spot at which the body would be landed was not made public in advance. With the exception of the mounted police, less than 100 persons witnessed the transfer from the Correction to the hearse.

The 12 honorary pall bearers, headed by William H. Taft, formed two lines through which the casket passed at the Gaynor home.

Rufus W. Gaynor, the mayor's son who was with the mayor when he died, was at the point of collapse when he reached home and had to be assisted up the steps. A physician was called to attend him and the mayor's widow.

OFFICIALS INTERESTED.

Diaz's Recall to Mexico Complies With Wilson's Demand.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—News that General Feliz Diaz, nephew of Porfirio Diaz, had been recalled to Mexico to become the candidate of the Huerta faction in the coming presidential election aroused much interest here in official circles. The general feeling was that the return of Diaz mant a complianc with President Wilson's prnicipal demand that General Huerta should not be a candidate.

So far as auguring an era of peace, however, the outlook was described as discouraging. While the American government is on record with a promise to extend recognition to the government set up by a legal and free election, it is said to be practically certain that the United States would not hasten to recognize Diaz if he were elected, but would wait in accord with the recedents of President Hayes's administration, to determine whether the resulting government was strong enough to maintain peace and guarantee international obligations.

The fact that the constitutionalist faction regards Diaz as being pointly dero's downfall, it is thought here, will mean a sharpening of the contest between the warring factions.

The attitude of the United States for he next few weeks is likely to be that of an interested spectator, with John Lind being retained at Vera Cruz, however, to show the world that the United States stands ready to assist in the situation by pacific means if its friendly offices are desired.

MILITARY COURT'S DECISION.

Deaths of Madero and Suarez Not Result of Punishable Crime.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 19.—The deaths of the late President Francisco I. Madero and Vice President Jose Maria Pino Suarez were not brought about by a punishable crime, according to a decision pronounced by the military court here today.

AT THE HAGUE CONFERENCE.

United States Relies on Private Contributions to Defray Her Expense.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—After inducing the Netherlands government to extend an invitation to the nations of the world to participate in an international conference on education, to be held at The Hague in 1914, the United States now is relying upon private contributions to defray the expense of its own representation at the gathering. Congress recently enacted a prohibition against the expenditure of any public funds for American representation in international conferences.

MUST LEAVE THIS COUNTRY.

Prison Sentence of Hungarian Counterfeitor to Expire At Once.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—On condition that Miles Mandich, a Hungarian convicted of counterfeiting leave the United States and never return, President Wilson has commuted the man's 12-year prison sentence to expire at once. The prisoner pleaded guilty at Cleveland, June 20, 1911, to raising $10 notes to $100. Since his incarceration he has been continuously confined to a prison hospital and the government physicians report that he will be a permanent invalid.

FEW OLD HORSE-DRAWN OMNIBUSES IN USE.

Employes of Tilling Company Refuse to Go to Work.

Transportation Lines from South to North of London Suspended.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Not a single motorman or conductor employed by the Tilling Omnibus Company, whose refusal to recognize the Motormen's Union is likely to bring about a general strike of transport workers in London, went to work this morning, and many of the motor bus lines running from the south to the north of London, which are chiefly supplied by the Tilling company, were entirely suspended, causing great inconvenience. A few of the old horse-drawn omnibuses were put on streets for the first time in several years.

There was no disturbance of any kind in the vicinity of the motor bus sheds, around which the striking men gathered in groups, determined to hold out, and waiting for employes of the other companies to join them at midnight tonight, unless their demands should in the meantime be acceded to by the employers.

Several conferences were held during the morning between the omnibus men and the representatives of the employers of the amalgamated tube system, at which the action of the latter, in case of a general strike, was discussed.

Practically the entire press of London supports the men in their demands, and many of the newspapers declare the point in regard to the wearing by the men of the badges of their trades unions should never have been raised.

THAW READS HIS OWN CASE.

Prisoner Anxious to Visit Public Buildings in Concord.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 19.—This morning Harry K. Thaw faced with expressed equanimity the prospect of another day in the close society of Sheriff Drew of Coos county. Drew and Thaw are on excellent terms, and Clarke Stevens, the Concord police officer who has been assigned to duty as assistant chaperone, also has made a hit with the New Yorker.

Thaw's concern this morning was that the overcast sky indicated a probable storm, which would prevent the repetition of the automobile ride and outing in the suburbs which he enjoyed so much Thursday afternoon.

The usual large amount of mail was awaiting his consideration this morning and the morning papers were piled high by his plate. Perusing his correspondence and the accounts of his own case takes so much time that Thaw cannot pay but little attention to the news of the day, but he had been interested to read of the air flights of William Thaw at Newport, though he says he has no ambition to imitate them.

Thaw's counsel will continue today their preparation of the case which they will submit in his behalf to Governor Felker, next Tuesday. William H. Sawyer, a local lawyer, who is one of Governor Felker's advisers as a member of the executive council, is posting himself on the general subject of extradition, as is also Attorney General James P. Tuttle.

The local police are having some trouble with Thaw "bugs," as they term visitors from out of town who stimulate with alcohol their desire to "see Thaw" and make nuisances of themselves about the hotel and elsewhere. Partly because of a desire to avoid these pests, Sheriff Drew has not thus far taken Thaw for any walks. Thaw is anxious to visit the state house and other public buildings, and may be allowed to do so today if favorable conditions develop.

ADD THAW

Harry Thaw stayed within his hotel room today, save for his appearance at morning and mid-day meals, and contrary to his usual custom told inquiring newspaper men at noon that he had no statement to make to the public today.

MANY STRANGE SIGHTS.

went into the cave there which Perry used for a storeroom, and also saw the great "crystal cave", which a well digger discovered by slumping into it. It is not fully explored yet, but seven big "rooms" are known and a lake is under one of them.

During the storm on Lake Erie one of the company was heard to say he wished the boat was going 700 miles a minute, so anxious was he to set foot on terra firma. The captain said it was the worst blow in years.

The wait of more than an hour at Worcester, in order that the "Flies" might be added to the part of the expedition on whom all admitted there "were no flies," made everybody in the first section "red hot." Commissioner Sanborn exhausted every means of reaching the railroad officials to prevent it, but in vain. The road was going to save running one locomotive—and it did. It was said that the other Providence soldiers and the Naval Reserves were on the watch for the exclusive portion of the expedition, intent on swatting the "Flies," who were received in Providence on their return, in silence.

Judges Sweetland, Brown, Rathbun, Sweeney and Hamnill were in the official party.

FLOATING NAVY SCHOOLS.

System of Instruction For Apprentice Seamen to be Extended to Ships.

Secretary Daniels will extend to every ship in the navy the system of instruction for apprentice seamen in common school study and advanced classes in certain technical branches which he recently established at naval training schools. He says his object in establishing the floating schools is to encourage every enlisted man to choose some branch or trade to follow in the service or which would fit him for civil life in case he did not re-enlist.

"This system of instruction," said Secretary Daniels, "ought to convince the people at large that service in the navy is not exclusively military, that the time of the enlisted men is not completely given up to occupations that unfit them for civil pursuits, but that the man is the gainer, not only physically and mentally, but in many practical matters that affect his success in life."

M'NAMARA DYNAMITE USED IN OTIS BOMB.

It has been ascertained that the dynamite used in the infernal machine sent to General Harrison Gray Otis by mail was that extremely high-powered explosive known as "85 per-cent," the same as was used by James B. McNamara in blowing up the Times building October 1, 1910. The legal limit for explosives in Los Angeles county is 40 per cent nitro and police and county officials have directed efforts to learn what purchases of 85 per cent dynamite had been made at powder factories recently.

THE NEW TURKO-BULGARIAN FRONTIER.

Official announcement is made of the settlement of the frontier question between Bulgaria and Turkey in Thrace. The frontier starts at the mouth of the Maritza river and ends north of Midia, on the Black sea. Turkey retains Adrianople, Demotika and Kirk-Killisseh, while Bulgaria retains Tirnovo, Mustapha Pacha and Ortakol.

NAVAL ORDERS AND MOVEMENTS

The Navy Department announces the following orders to officers:

VANDERBILT SELLING "DEEPDALE."

Mr. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., will give up his "Deepdale" estate, one of the finest properties on Long Island, which consists of about 500 acres. In the spring he sold 14 acres of his estate to a real estate concern, and now a deed for 13½ acres has been filed with the county clerk.

"Deepdale" practically has been closed since Mrs. Vanderbilt took up a residence apart from her husband. Mr. Vanderbilt recently has lived at Northport, where he is laying out an estate fully as extensive as "Deepdale." Mrs. Vanderbilt, with her children, has taken up her residence at Jericho, where she bought a fine place.

to convince one woman that the Torrington was worth having at any price.

She swept three rugs thoroughly, gathering a cupful of dirt. Then the sucked up from these same freshly "broom-cleaned" rugs such an amazing amount of dirt she simply had to believe.

The Torrington looks like a carpet sweeper. It is not electrically operated. As you push it about, an air pump inside creates a powerful suction which draws up every speck of dirt from where it is bedded deep in the web of your rug—dirt no broom could reach—"trodden in" Fri.

The Torrington is splendidly, durably made. Good for years of daily use. Always ready. The easiest running vacuum cleaner in the world. You just push it about—no other power.

And the price—only $7.50.

NEW BOOK BY HICHENS.

"The Way of Ambition" a Powerful Story of a Young Musical Genius.

In "The Way of Ambition" Robert Hichens has written a more pleasing story than "The Fruitful Vine" or "Bella Donna". It is more idealistic than his former novels, while it has a happy ending, which will enhance its value to many readers. Strong, tense and dramatic, with careful character drawing and powerful situations, it will rank among the best work the author has done.

The scenes are laid in London and New York and in "The Garden of Allah" country. The crisis comes in New York, while many of the strongest situations occur in Algeria. The story will appeal to music lovers, as the characters include singers and composers, while there is an opera warfare, which reaches its climax in a series of thrilling scenes.

The tale centres about a young musical genius, who is unlike the usual type in that he hates publicity and has no desire to exploit his work. Only a few intimate friends ever hear Claude Heath play and they are enthusiastic over him. They consider him "a new note in English music", but he will not be dragged into the lime light. Reserved and sensitive, strong and weak in will and temperament, and acutely aware of the weakness in himself, Heath is an unusual man and an unusual artist. When he marries an ambitious young society girl, who wishes him to be a success, and urges and pushes him on to her goal, an interesting situation develops which culminates in a striking denouement.

Mrs. Mansfield, whose hair is snow-white and she not 50, understands Claude's nature well. She is a woman of intelligence and brains, whose friendship with the young man is good for them both. No other phrase describes her so well as that used by Max Elliott, who admired her greatly and loved "to warm his hands at her delightful blaze". Adelaide Shiffney is not such a wise friend as Mrs. Mansfield. To Heath she is the embodiment of the world, from which he hides. Adelaide's encounters with him are not always to her credit, and sometimes not to his.

Other characters include Jacque Sennier, a popular and famous composer; his wife, who has made him what he is, but who is unscrupulous as she is proud of her husband's success; Jacob Crayford, impresario, engaged in a New York opera war; Alston Lake, a young baritone singer, and Susan Fleet, an English woman of small means but position, who is a theosophist, and whose calmness and love for mankind soothe and charm excitable and worldly natures.

There are several illustrations, with a frontispiece in color, by J. H. Gardner Soper.

Lunch.

Corn in Tomato Shells.
Wafers. Tea.

Dinner.

Tomato Soup.
Roast Beef. Potato Croquettes. Cauliflower.
Watercress. French Dressing.
Wafers. Cheese.
Peach Dumplings. Hard Sauce.
Coffee.

Fried Cucumbers.

Pare and cut in slices young cucumbers. Pat dry on a cloth, then dip at once into flour and drop into a little hot fat in a spider. When the under side is brown, dust with salt before turning. In dishing do not pile one on another; serve as quickly as possible that they may not lose their crispness.

Corn in Tomato Shells.

Scrape the pulp from a number of scored ears of corn and season lightly with salt and pepper. Allow a large, firm tomato for each person. Cut a piece from the stem end, scoop out the centre and fill with the seasoned corn. Arrange on a shallow pan and bake about half an hour in a moderate oven.

MENU FOR SUNDAY.

Potato Biscuit.

As a good hot bread try potato biscuit. On the preceding evening mix together one pint of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one scant teaspoonful of salt, then rub in two large tablespoonfuls of shortening. Pare sufficient potatoes to make one pint when mashed. The next morning boil the potatoes, which may be cut small to cook quickly, mash and beat until light. Mix with the prepared flour and add sufficient sweet milk to make a soft dough. Turn on a floured board, roll out an inch thick, cut in rounds, place slightly apart on buttered pans and bake in a quick oven. These are more tender than the plain milk biscuit.

Grape Ice or Sherbert.

Braise stemmed grapes and place over the fire until scalding hot, turn into a cheese cloth bag and let the juice drip. For one pint boil together one pint of water and one cupful of sugar for three minutes, then set away until cold. Add the grape juice and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and freeze. This may be turned into a sherbert by the addition, when half frozen, of the white of an egg whipped to a stiff meringue, and one tablespoonful of sifted powdered sugar. Pack and let stand for a couple of hours before serving.

AUTOMOBILE FOR CHIEF KIRWIN.

Colonel Willard had called the attention of the city clerk to the fact that in the construction of a new federal building in this city there might be opportunity for the widening of a congested portion of Thames street, and that accordingly a resolution had been prepared. It was read and adopted, as follows:

"Whereas, Thames street, in front of the postoffice, is narrow and badly congested during certain months of the year, and

"Whereas, It is difficult at this time to widen said street on the west side, and

"Whereas, The present sidewalk in front of the postoffice and the adjoining land to the south of the postoffice, recently condemned, is about 15 feet wide, and

"Whereas, It is believed that five feet of this sidewalk could be thrown into the street without damage to the sidewalk or the new postoffice building. Be it

"Resolved, That the clerks of the board be and the same is hereby appointed to take this matter up with the Senators and Representatives in an endeavor to have the federal government throw five feet of said sidewalk into Thames street, between Franklin and Cannon streets."

Mayor MacLeod reported, for the committee on change of fire department appropriations, that it had conferred with Chief Kirwin and devised a plan whereby it might be possible to secure sufficient funds with which to purchase an automobile for the chief, to take the place of his horse and buggy. There is $650 appropriated for the purchase of two horses which will not now be needed, because of the introduction of automobiles in the department, and out of the appropriation for repairs to apparatus $200 more might be secured. The mayor said the chief was in hearty sympathy with such a shifting of funds, and asked if the board was prepared to name a date for the calling of a meeting of the Representative Council, to authorize such a change. The board was not and the matter was passed until another meeting.

This year the department had two apparatus repair appropriations in the budget. One reads "apparatus repairs $700," and the other "general repairs, apparatus, $1,500." From appearances there have been more repairs than usual this year; that is, those made have left visual evidence of the work done, and it is not yet completed.

It now seemed to be time for the regular declination of three members of the board that the city must have a certain build of fire automobile, and the equally positive stand of the mayor and the other two aldermen that this will not be purchased with their assistance. Aldermen Kelly, Leidy and Hughes had held a secret conference before the meeting, the drift of which none could gain, but preparations had been made to throw some hot shot at the Pope-Hartford advocates. There were even rumors that one of the latter was weakening, because of the general criticism throughout the city against the aldermen who are trying to force something upon the city which the taxpayers apparently do not want.

It was accordingly a matter of surprise to all but the trio when Alderman Kelly moved that the vote on the purchase of another automobile combination be postponed until this evening. Alderman Kirby, as soon as he recovered from the surprise, said that, in view of the fact that the proposition to pass the vote came from the Pope-Hartford side, he would second the motion. It was so voted.

The meeting was over, but there was talk in and about the City Hall for some time upon the general situation. It is thought that tonight there may be present some person to deny any charge which may be made against the Pope-Hartford machine, while on the other hand there is today a general hustling to procure additional evidence as to why this particular machine should not be purchased, and it is claimed that some pretty strong evidence has been secured.

FOR SCHAFF MEMORIAL.

Building in Philadelphia to be Clearing House for Religious Agencies.

If the arrangements of an international committee can be carried out as auspiciously as they have been launched there will soon be a memorial building to Rev. Dr. Philip Schaff in Philadelphia which will cost $1,000,000 and will be a clearing house for religious, civic and benevolent agencies whose ultimate purpose is to promote church union.

There is already $300,000 of the needed amount in hand and the Philip Schaff memorial committee has opened an office in New York and appointed as corresponding secretary Rev. Dr. Duncan J. McMillan, until recently secretary of the board of church erection of the Presbyterian Church. The chairman of the committee is Rev. Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, and professor in Union Theological Seminary. The general secretary is Rev. Dr. Rufus W. Miller of Philadelphia, and the treasurer Rev. Dr. William Henry Roberts of Philadelphia, clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church. The international committee represents 12 different denominations.

There is nothing like this proposed building now in existance. It will be a rallying place for church forces, which make for union and an educational agency to help this along. The enterprise is not for financial profit to any person or organization, but rather to advance the cause of co-operative Protestantism.

The building is to be erected in Philadelphia because the Reformed Church in the United States, which brought Dr. Schaff to America, has already contributed to the proposed memorial a site near the Parkway, in the heart of the city, worth more than $250,000.

Dr. Schaff, editor and author, was known as a mediator between the Biblical scholarship and church life of Europe and America, an ecclesiastical diplomatist and an advocate of Christian co-operation. He assisted in the revision of the King James version of the Bible.

DUTY-FREE IMPORTS.

There is a popular impression, responsible for many errors, that the free list is limited in scope and effect, whereas it is a fact that the value of the imports which paid no toll at the custom house in the 12 months ending June exceed the value of dutiable imports by $162,000,000. The totals were, duty free, $987,494,162; dutiable, $825,484,072.

LIFE.

[Baltimore Sun.]

A steady job somewhere that pays,
One you can keep as long as those
Who have to give you blame or praise
Are satisfied the way work goes.

A two-piece suit just twice a year
For winter and for summer wear;
And one nice garment for the dear
And one good second best to spare.

Six dresses each for those who've come
Into your little world of strife
To share the rib roast and the crumb
With the enshrined and frugal wife.

A trolley ride just now and then
When paper and cigar grow stale;
Two pictures shows a week or when
The odd change left will best avail.

The theatre parquet for two,
Six nights at intervals when they
Have something that's worth seeing through,
And, maybe one meal in cafe.

A quarter for collection plate
Each Sunday through the punctual year;
And now and then—no special date—
A bottle of imported beer.

The base ball games when team is home,
The circus and the Wild West show;
One lecture—got to feed the dome—
Medicine, doctor, lawn to mow.

Grocer, the ice man, coal and milk,
The baker, huckster then Louise
Must have that hollre made of silk,
And Benny needs a hat, dear, please!

Sometimes laid off, and then the cloud,
A shadow that is hardest borne,
But that love lifts the settled shroud
And faith illumineth the morn.

Patience, content and sacrifice
Of both bearis to a common end—
The children, and a home—there lies
The kind of average life we spend!

BIGGEST CAR FLOATS.

New Haven Railroad Makes Notable Addition to Raft Equipment.

There have recently been added to the floating equipment of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad for use in New York harbor four steel car floats, which are believed to be the largest now in use by any railroad. These floats were built at Fore River, Mass., and are big enough to hold 22 long freight cars. Each of the new floats has 17 water-tight compartments, making them practically unsinkable. They are 343 feet 6 inches long, 40 feet 1 inch wide and draw five feet when loaded.

The new floats are for use on the car ferry between the New Haven's freight terminal at Oak Point in the borough of the Bronx, New York city, and the Pennsylvania, Jersey Central and Lehigh Valley terminals in New Jersey. On the average 2,100 cars a day are floated between these points.

The record for a single trip was made by two of the new floats in August last. On these two floats, lashed to one of the New Haven's tugs, there were transported on this trip 50 loaded freight cars. The cars themselves weighed 780 tons and their contents 2,561 tons, or a combined weight for cars and contents of 3,341 tons. To pull the cars floated on this one trip of these floats required two heavy locomotives.

With the addition of the new floats the New Haven's floating equipment in New York harbor now comprises 50 car floats and 18 tugs. Some of the latter are the most powerful tugs used in harbor work, nine of them being of 1,000 horse power and two of 1,200 horse power.

A NEW "DOLLAR DIPLOMACY."

The present administration was scarcely sworn into office before it was loudly proclaimed by the Secretary of State, and a little less loudly by persons speaking for the President, that "dollar diplomacy" was to be thrown out of the window. Bryan declared the idea of lending the support of the United States government, and even displaying its armed forces in aid of persons who go into foreign countries and adventure their lives and their dollars there. If anybody goes abroad, let him take his chances, was the plain implication of the Secretary of State. If anybody lends money to a foreign government, let him go into the courts of that government and sue for his claim, and not appeal for the support of the Department of State. We were not going to meddle with affairs in Mexico, China or any other part of the world in the interests of our citizens; we would mind our own business.

It happens that Democrats are men of like passions with ourselves, who are the other variety of Americans. They have the same sense of national pride. They are as apt to engage in business in the countries south of us and the countries on the other side of the globe as Republicans or men from the Northern states, and they have as much objection as Republicans to the loss of life and property.

Now we are having intimations that "this administration is no less keen than was the last for America to advance toward a prominent position in the world's trade." It is predicted confidently that "the administration of President Wilson will render every assistance to Americans engaged in world trade." Of course there will be no "dollar diplomacy." That sordid policy, that prostitution of national influence for private trade, was Republican; it was the invention of Taft or Knox. Wilson and Bryan are inventing something a great deal better. It will have a different name; it will be Democratic, but it will be just as good for American interests in foreign countries as the patent medicine dispensed by Dr. Knox under the label of "dollar diplomacy." American interests are to be protected just as much as ever.

EUGENICS MARRIAGE LAWS.

In Pennsylvania it has already been found that the enforcement of the law requiring an examination of parties desiring a marriage license, to make sure that they are healthy and that the union will be in accordance with the laws of eugenics, is causing a reduction in the number of weddings, and it is not surprising that such should be the result. The new statute to a considerable extent is inquisitorial in its features, probing into the private affairs of applicants for marriage licenses, and in many cases doubtless revealing conditions usually considered not proper for public notice or even for private knowledge outside the family. It should not seem strange, therefore, if many persons who desire to marry hesitate before subjecting themselves to the provisions of such a law, for fear of what may be revealed by the examinations required by it, or at least objecting to the invasion of privacy involved in the investigation.

Of course it does not necessarily follow that this eugenics law is actually discouraging marriages, though it is likely that this is the case. It is possible for any one living in Pennsylvania and desiring to evade the new regulations to go to another state and be married, without the necessity of an examination and the details now demanded in that commonwealth. Doubtless in many cases this has been and will be done, but it is possible to conceive of many instances in which such a journey would be impracticable and the applicants would be obliged to submit to the examination or refrain from entering the marriage condition. It may be, too, though that is a matter upon which it is not possible to obtain very full knowledge that the new law with its objectionable conditions will result in irregular unions, and thus create or encourage an evil which ought to be avoided by every possible means.

There is undoubtedly some virtue in such a law as this, and it is hardly to be disputed by any reasonable person that the aim is a good one. It seems, however, as the result of the actual operation of the legislation that it embodies serious objections aside from the fact of probing into private affairs. It is evidently making marriage more difficult and union without marriage easier, and that is an evil which does not need encouragement. Sometimes it appears that marriage is too easy, that there are far too many legal unions which are entered upon hastily and without sober reflection, and that there should be stringent laws to render such as these impossible. That fact indeed has been recognized in this state and in others, by the passage of legislation requiring an interval of several days between the granting of a license and the performance of the ceremony, in the case of applicants from outside the state; and this has been found to work well in preventing runaway marriages.

This eugenics marriage license law, it might be argued, is in the same direction, but that is not quite true. Its object is not so much to prevent hasty marriages as the consummation of unions which will perpetuate disease and physical or intellectual defects. In that object it is to be commended, but it is feared that this aim is not being accomplished in a way which is free from objections of another sort, fully as strong as those which it is intended to avoid. It may be well, however, to have a trial of the law, since there has been so much discussion of the subject in recent months that probably many would not be convinced of its objectionable features until it were tried and the results of its enforcement known. Perhaps some modification of the Pennsylvania statute can be enacted which will be more successful in gaining the end desired, without arousing so much opposition and creating conditions which to a large extent may defeat the object desired. Then other states may follow in the footsteps of those which adopt reasonable eugenics marriage license laws.

DRAMATIC LICENTIOUSNESS.

One of the Philadelphia papers says in its notice of a theatrical performance there—one which has been touring the country:

"The whole gamut was run from daring novelties worthy of place in a good French 'revue' to passages of sheer vulgarity that tempted one to leave the playhouse."

There have been running in New York two plays the producers of which describe them as "great moral lessons," because they show that a fast life comes to a bad end. Magistrate McAdoo went to see one of them and describes it as "indecent and immoral and, in part, gross and revolting." The second act "shows the parlor or reception room of a house of prostitution." That's a theatrical manager's idea of "a great moral lesson." Of course he is producing it not to elevate the public morals, but to make money by catering to licentious and prurient tastes. He has sized up the public taste fairly well and can thoroughly appreciate the advertising value of police interference. The mere fact that the suppression of the plays has been proposed and summonses have been issued for the managers was sufficient to draw such crowds that hundreds of people were turned away from the doors.

In other words, hundreds of thousands of people, mostly from the decent walks of life, are eager to see a play if they understand that it is indecent; if the chief magistrate of the municipal court will warrant that it is "indecent and immoral, gross and revolting." The effort of many theatrical managers to see how indecent a performance they can give, and as police interference advertises it and brings crowds it is astonishing that the managers do not produce something which they would admit to be obscene. They could make a good deal of money out of it before the police closed their houses.

There is no use talking to or about the managers, but the decent and respectable people ought not to rush to see that which is indecent and immoral. If instead of doing so 100 or 500 respectable people would leave the theatre the managers might think something less off "a great moral lesson" would answer their purposes.

The action of Provisional President Huerta in summoning General Felix Diaz to return immediately to Mexico is another thing connected with the situation which is causing considerable discussion. It is generally regarded as indicating that Huerta intends to abide by the pact signed at the American embassy last February, to place no obstacle in the path of General Diaz in his candidacy for the presidency, and it is possible that General Huerta will throw his influence to Diaz, which would practically insure his election. Everybody's wondering what Huerta will do next. He seems quite capable of doing the unexpected at any moment.

Great Britain is evidently desirous of displeasing the United States as the first friend of China, having informed Japan that she would view with apprehension, and as likely to encourage the partition of China, any Japanese military action in the present crisis. The United States under Secretary of State Hay in 1900 was the author of the principle of the territorial integrity of China and the "open door," and was generally regarded as the saviour of Chinese independence. Again in 1904, when the Russo-Japanese war created another possibility of partition, Secretary Hay effected an agreement between the belligerents to respect the neutrality of China. Now England feels called upon to protect China's integrity.

Of the 67 Democrats who refused to vote in the House of Representatives to re-affirm the gold standard of value in the United States, 39 were from the South, four from the Middle Atlantic states, one each from New York and Delaware and two from Pennsylvania; four from the Colorado section and the others from the middle West and Southwest. New England had no representative vote against the gold standard. One Republican from Nevada and one Progressive from Minnesota acted with the 67 Democrats.

The English players are winning in the professional golf championship tournament and are quite likely to take away the honors. Great Britain has been beaten by America at lawn tennis, polo, general athletic and field sports and yachting, and it would not be too much perhaps to allow its representatives to take the title in golf, as a consolation.

Does it really look as if the aldermen were acting in the interest of the taxpayers when they persist in trying to purchase a type of machine of which the manufacturers have advertised they are to make no more, and are selling at bargain prices? All machinery is subject to breakage and new parts are likely to be needed. Spare parts of an abandoned design soon become unprocurable, regardless of a manufacturer's promise to keep up the line.

The Senate and House conferees (the Democratic members thereof) have agreed upon the wheat and flour schedules in the tariff bill, the House yielding to the Senate for the lower duties. It is likely to be quite a free trade measure.

The Republicans of Maryland have adopted a platform containing planks favoring woman suffrage and the initiative and referendum. The times have changed and quite evidently the Republicans of Maryland are changing with them.

A NEW EXPLOSIVE.

Trotol Cannot be Set Off by Any Shock and is Safer Than Dynamite.

Trotol is the name given to a new explosive for which it is claimed that it is the safest high explosive known. Its formula was worked out by Lieutenant Harold C. Woodward, an officer in the New York National Guard. He proposes, as reported, to present his discovery without reward to the United States government.

Three years ago a brother of Lieutenant Woodward came across an old volume that had been presented to German officials at the time of the Franco-Prussian war. In the book were 2000 formulas for high explosives, mainly anonymous. The Germans had simply shelved the book, perhaps discouraged by the number of recipes and the impossibility of testing them all.

Woodward tried five formulas at random, and found them all either worthless or inferior to explosives now in use. He tried a sixth at random and found it extraordinarily safe and good but rather weak as compared with the best dynamite. But from it he developed trotol.

Trotol can be exploded only by fulminate of mercury, the substance used to explode dynamite. It cannot be set off by any shock, however great. In a test at Fort Wadsworth trotol was packed into a 12-inch shell and the shell was fired at armor plate 1,000 yards away. The shell struck the armor plate while going at a rate of 2,750 feet a second, but the trotol inside remained unexploded in spite of the terrific concussion.

Six ounces of trotol, it is said, will do the work of 12 ounces of dynamite. Dynamite deteriorates in water or on the water and under certain atmospheric conditions. Trotol can be soaked in water for years and be as good as ever. It looks like wet brown sugar and is made up in sticks like dynamite. Trotol can be carried wet or dry, and the fulminate of mercury, which must be kept yards away from dynamite lest a premature explosion result, may come as close as six inches to trotol without danger. Like dynamite, trotol cannot be exploded by ignition.

WEIGHT LIMIT OF PARCEL POST PACKAGES.

The reason why Postmaster General Burleson limited the weight of packages in parcel post to 20 pounds has been divulged. It is a trivial reason, but a very good one. It seems that the Postoffice Department had no scales which would weigh packages heavier than 20 pounds, and that it would take five or six months to get them and to equip the postoffices of the country with them. Hope is held out that in the course of time the government will provide itself with ample weighing facilities, and that the weight limit of parcel post packages will then be raised accordingly.

Many Comical Situations in Comedy Given For Benefit of the Grange.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The comedy entitled "The Deacon's Tribulations," given at Fair theatre Thursday evening for the benefit of Portsmouth Grange by a cast of 12 members of the Grange, had many comical situations which were well carried out. The lack of programs made it sometimes difficult to keep the thread of the story. Mr. Arthur A. Sherman acted well the part of a man most of the time in his cups, who ended by reforming. As the scolding wife, Mrs. George W. Hart acted her part with her usual efficiency. Mr. William C. Main, who had charge of the play, was an athletic colored servant, who did and said many ludicrous things. The kidnappers were dragged away from the robbers' den and burly policemen took them to jail, after which the play ended happily. Knowe's orchestra furnished music between the acts and later the audience adjourned to the dance hall, where the orchestra also furnished music.

Mrs. Emma J. Greene of Providence and her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Stevens, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Mott.

Mr. and Mrs. Valder Andrews of Tiverton have leased the lower tenement in the house of Mrs. Eliza McLeod, and Mrs. McLeod has moved up stairs.

Mrs. J. B. Whitehead of Attleboro is spending a few days with her cousin, Mr. John W. Marshall, on Turnpike road.

Mr. Rowland S. Chace of Bristol Ferry had a narrow escape Wednesday evening from a serious accident. His wagon was run into by an automobile, breaking it to pieces and throwing him out. He was going south, when an automobile with Rhode Island license 1152 came up behind and ran into him. The three men in the car offered assistance and agreed to pay all damages.

Mr. Louis Winsor of Bristol Ferry met with a distressing accident Wednesday, one of the wheels coming off of the express wagon in which he was riding. A large gash was cut in his head, making it necessary to take five stitches. The horse ran to its home with the wagon, on only three wheels.

Mr. David Caswell, formerly of Middletown and Portsmouth, with his family has moved from Puncatest Neck to his cottage beyond Island Park, and later will move to Fall River, where he is now engaged in carpentering.

Miss Mildred Hall, daughter of Mr. Benjamin Hall, is visiting in Concord, Mass.

Barge Barnegat of New York is discharging a cargo of 504 tons of soft coal for the Bay State Street Railway Company's power house, at the wharf at the foot of Power street.

ANOTHER AMERICAN VICTOR

Vermont to Erect Monument in Honor of Commodore Macdonough.

[Boston Transcript.]

As the centennial observances of Perry's victory close, preparations for commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of another American triumph on the Lakes are beginning. The state of Vermont has not forgotten the great services rendered the United States by Commodore Macdonough, at Plattsburgh, September 11, 1814, when he defeated and captured the British fleet which was intended to support and cover the invading army. The battle was fought almost in sight of the Vermont shore and the vessels which Macdonough commanded were Vermont built. His shipyard was on Otter Creek, at Vergennes. On a site yet to be selected a monument commemorating the construction of the fleet will be dedicated next autumn, presumably on the anniversary of the battle. Vergennes will provide the site and pay the incidental expenses of the celebration, the state of Vermont contributing $4,000 for the cost of the monument or memorial. Macdonough's name does not bulk as large as it ought to in popular appreciation of naval heroes. He fought a good fight most scientifically, and he foiled a most formidable invasion. His was a decisive victory which compelled Great Britain to abandon its extensive and expensive plans for operating against New York and New England.

STEEL CARS WITHOUT PROPER ROADBEDS.

[New York Tribune.]

The agitation for steel cars is being carried on beyond the point of reason according to many practical railroad men, in view of the conditions obtaining on many lines where roadbeds are not yet fitted to carry extra heavy equipment. Vice President Park of the Illinois Central at the convention of the road masters touching on the subject, among other things, said:

"A railroad manager would be criminal to put money in expensive track elevation, separation of highway crossings or steel cars if the road had only sand ballast, wooden bridges, inadequate drainage and protection against washouts and landslides, items which are well known to the practical operating officials as being those which should receive first consideration.

"It is absurd to expect stockholders to go without dividends indefinitely to provide for the betterment of railroads from which they will not be permitted to obtain any additional returns. The greater part of them are poor people, who live on the income from their investment."

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, Sept. 19.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Occasional showers tonight or Saturday; light to moderate northerly to easterly winds.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Forecast for southern New England—Continued unsettled weather, with occasional rain tonight and Saturday; light to moderate north to northeast winds.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Forecast for northern New England—Unsettled, with local rains tonight or Saturday; light to moderate variable winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Showery and unsettled weather prevails in the eastern half of the country, the Missouri valley, and the northern valleys on the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains. Generally clear weather prevails in the Far West and Southwest. The high pressure area noted Thursday morning over the Lake region has diminished and is now central over the lower St. Lawrence valley, with the highest reading at Father Point, Quebec. The pressure is below the normal in the South, while in the West a trough of barometeric depression extends from Manitoba southward to Texas. The temperature is lower this morning in northeastern portions of the country and also in the extreme NorthWest. The lowest reported during last night in New England was 42 degrees at Greenville, Maine. In New York at 8 a.m. the temperature was 60, Boston 56, Washington 66, Jacksonville 74, St. Louis 64, Chicago 56, Denver 54, San Francisco 56 and Portland, Oregon 54.

St. George's School.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the Trustees of St. George's School will be held at the school in Middletown, R. I., on Saturday, September 20, 1913, at [illegible] P. M.

WILL OF EDWARD KENNY.

Small Bequests to Priests, for Masses, and Residue to St. Clare Home.

At a special session of the probate court this afternoon the will of Edward Kenny was proved and letters testamentary were granted to Philip A. Clark. The personal estate will not exceed $2,400 and the land does not exceed $4,800 in value. The will provides that no surety shall be required from the executor.

Bequests are made as follows: To Rev. Father R. Barry of Ireland, $100; Rev. W. J. Meenan, $100; Rev. M. F. Reddy, $50; Rev Edward A. Digney, $100; Rev. Edward Tierney, $50; Rev. Philip A. Cronin, $100, all for masses; the St. Clare Home, $50; Catherine O'Neill, $50; Richard Skelly, $100; Mary Kenny, Katie Kenny and Elizabeth Driscoll, $10. All the rest and residue is given to the St. Clare Home.

FREDERICK W. THAYER DEAD

Captain of Harvard's Most Famous Base Ball Team.

Frederick Winthrop Thayer, Harvard '78, died at his summer home at Cohasset, Mass. late Wednesday evening of heart failure. He was captain of the most famous base ball team which Harvard or perhaps any college ever had, and the inventor of the catcher's mask, without which even the small boy cannot now essay to play a game of scrub. Harold Ernst was the pitcher of that famous nine and Jim Tyng catcher, Thayer playing third base.

Ernst pitched such a swift ball that it was evident something should be done to protect the catcher and Captain Thayer came to the rescue and improvised a mask at first fashioned from a fencer's mask and since perfected to its present state. In those days the catcher stood behind the plate without gloves, chest protector or mask, and held a piece of rubber between his teeth, to prevent losing too many of his teeth in case a foul tip came back straight.

IN OTHER COLLISIONS.

Warburton May be Responsible For Seekonk Fatality.

It appears from the Fall River papers that Chatterton Warburton, the Fall River florist who ran down the runabout in which Miss Laura Swan was riding September 7, had been in a collision before that date. August 14 in Seekonk he ran into a lad who had just left an electric car, bound from Fall River to Providence. The mud guard hit the lad and the wheels run over him, and he died the next day.

The testimony taken at the coroner's inquest went to show that the lad had not waited for the car to stop, but when it slowed down jumped, without looking backward, right in front of the Warburton car, which was following the electric, and when the latter slowed up was rapidly overtaking it. No decision has yet been announced in regard to the fatality.

A RAINY DAY.

The weather today is different. It is not so cold, but it is far from the pleasant day Thursday was. Straw hats, white shoes, any kind of raiment not built with the idea of withstanding rainy and disagreeable weather, are out of it today. Outdoor work is generally suspended and things are certainly slack. It promised Thursday afternoon that it would rain more, and the harvest moon took another vacation. There were a few sprinkles, but nothing real in the rain line until 10 o'clock, when it began to come down softly and easily. It did not come down very fast, for up to 8 this morning only .18 of an inch had fallen, according to the Water Works gauge. More has fallen since, as it has been raining steadily, or rather steadily, all day. It has not rained hard, but enough to make things outdoors and in disagreeable.

PRESUMABLY CAUGHT SOME FISH.

The Outer Fountain Fishing Club returned Thursday afternoon from its first fishing excursion of the season. Just what success the club had was not announced but it must have caught some fish, for the fish were out there and the club had bait, lines hooks and sinkers, and the members have all had experience in fishing.

There is one thing which can be said for the Outer Fountain Fishing Club; What fish it brings in it has caught, in the old-fashioned fisherman's way, by hook and line and patience—not the boat. The club has never had any occasion to resort to silver bait. If it cannot catch fish it will come in without any and report "Nothing Doing."

AN UP-TO-DATE VOLUNTEER DEPARTMENT.

New London's volunteer fire department had an opportunity to show one of its up-to-date features in the recent burning out of the F. W. Woolworth & Co. store. The fire was in the basement and had to be drowned out because streams could not be brought to bear upon the flames. An automobile pumper worked nearly six hours, playing three streams at a pressure of 120 pounds. Two automobile hose wagons after doing their first duty were used as ambulances for carrying off firemen who were overcome by smoke. A pulmotor was also brought to the scene, to resuscitate any of the men who might require such attention. A discarded steam fire engine surprised the people by doing efficient work for four hours.

FUNERAL OF MRS. LEVY.

The funeral of Mrs. Isaac Levy took place this morning from her late residence on Division street. Brief prayers were read by Rev. Julius Rosh, rabbi of the Touro Synagogue, after which the body was taken to the Jewish plot in the Braman cemetery on Farewell street, where Rabbi Rosh read the committal service. The pallbearers were Messrs. Israel J. Josephson, Max Teitz, Daniel Rosen, Nathan Dyer, Julius Engel and Lazar Herz. A large number of the leading families of the Jewish community were represented at the funeral, and there were many others who have been connected in public life with Mr. Max Levy.

COURT HOUSE NOTES.

High Sheriff Anthony is still feeling the effects of the injury he received, when, while standing on the sidewalk, a man came up behind in an automobile and hit him, and he would have been seriously injured if one or two of his friends had not pulled him out of the danger. It was an accident showing that these machines overhang the sidewalk so much that even there it is dangerous to be safe."

Deputy Sheriff King is slightly indisposed from a recurrence of the illness which attacked so large a proportion of the Artillery after eating ham sandwiches on Lake Erie, on the way home. Colonel King says the ham had a bad odor, which he noted before he ate it.

The offices of the lower floor of the court house are now restored to order and all the officers are back in their quarters. There is a proposition to heat the jury room by steam.

COMING CHANGES IN STEAMBOAT LINES.

Steamer Providence of the Providence line touched on the rocks when going through Hell Gate recently and was hauled out on the dry dock to permit an examination to see if repairs were needed. Freighter City of Taunton went on the line to carry freight while she was laid off.

The Providence Line will go out of commission for the season this week, when the Providence and Plymouth will be laid up here and freighters Mohawk and Pequonnock, which have been overhauled at the repair shops, will go for freight carrying. The New Bedford line will continue another week, the final westward trip being Monday, September 29. Steamer City of Taunton will then go on for freight.

INCREASED SCHOOL ENROLMENT.

The total enrolment of the public schools this noon, the end of the second week of the school year, is 3,546, against 3,491 at the same time last year, a gain of 55. The enrolment of the Rogers High is 558, against 523 last year, a gain of 35. The number of permits issued is 420 this year, against 402 last year, a gain of 18. The permits for new pupils are divided as follows: Kindergarten 144, first grade 142, grades II-IX 92, Rogers High School 42.

Miss Whitman, supervisor of drawing, is to meet the teachers next week at the Townsend Industrial school, by grades. Tuesday those in grades I-III will report at 4:30. Wednesday those of grades IV-V at 4:30, and Thursday grades VI-IX at 4:45.

"THE FIREFLY" COMING.

Mr. C. D. Parker was in the city Thursday, arranging for the appearance of the comedy opera, "The Firefly," at the Opera House Tuesday evening, September 30. "The Firefly" had a successful run at the Casino Theatre in New York, followed by a six weeks' engagement in Boston, and having started August 30 has been playing one week in Philadelphia and in various cities in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York. The company is headed by Miss Edith Harper, who has made a decided hit in the title role, her singing especially being of a high order. The opera will be presented with special scenery and a full orchestra, which accompanies the company.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Miss A. M. Burdick, who has been at Madison, N. H., the past week, is now at Intervale, N. H.

—Miss Emma Coggeshall is visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Peckham, at Adamsville.

—Dr. Sullivan reports that Mr. M. A. Sullivan has but a light attack of typhoid, is comfortable and doing well. Of course it will be some time before he will be about again.

—Mrs. Ralph Barker and her daughter, Miss Laura Barker, have gone to Northhampton, Mass., where Miss Barker will take up her studies at Miss Capen's school.

—The doors to the new City Hall vault are now set and men are finishing the walls about the opening. The vault will give needed space for books and papers of value of the school department.

—Destroyers Jouett, Monaghan, Warrington, Preston Trippe, Jarvis, Spaulding and Cassin are in port this afternoon. The Fanning and Perkins sailed Thursday. The Cassin is a recent addition and is making her first appearance here.

—The police report this morning was brief. One prisoner was in the toils, and when the judge said the charge was being drunk he saved the court all further trouble by agreeing that undoubtedly the charge was correct. He paid the fine.

—It was expected that Mr. William Thaw would make a flight in his Curtiss flying boat Thursday, but the weather conditions were unfavorable for a view if the flight was made and it was postponed. There is not much fun in going up in the air on a muggy day when one cannot have a view of the country.

—Since several others have taken up the corn roast enterprise so successfully introduced here by Secretary Stockwell of the local Young Men's Christian Association, Mr. Stockwell, for diversion, has taken up cabinet making for the benefit of the boys' department. He and Secretary Stokes are using the rainy day to construct three game tables for the boys.

hutn atmaqlifffw vbqkqlvfqkvbqkbb

—Wireless messages received in New York shortly after midnight last night reported torpedo boat destroyer Terry ashore on the north end of Gardiner's Island, in Gardiner's bay, Long Island. She was undamaged, and it was expected would be floated shortly. The Terry, with others of the destroyers, has been taking part in manoeuvres in Gardiner's bay.

—The marriage of Miss Bertha A. Pallock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pallock of Wakefield, to Sergeant Frederick F. Elkey of the One Hundred and Tenth Company, coast artillery corps, at Fort Greble, took place Wednesday at the parsonage of the Wakefield Baptist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Elkey received a handsome chest of table silverware from the members of Sergeant Elkey's company.

—In the probate court Thursday afternoon, at a special session, the administrator's first and final account with the estate of Thomas Horgan, and the first and final account of the administrator de bonis non on the same estate, were examined, allowed and ordered recorded. Similar action was taken on the first and final accounts of the administrators of the estates of Shearman C. Weaver and William G. Weaver.

—The Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association has a new regular member of the staff, Mr. Samuel Cottrell, late of the Rogers High School, who has done good work as an extra assistant during the rush season of two summers. Just now he is taking charge of the lockers, in the absence of Mr. Vara, who is visiting in Georgia. On Mr. Vara's return Mr. Cottrell will be assistant in that department. The restaurant is still open and at least the lunch counter will be kept open through the winter, the present chef being retained.

MANY COLLEGE STUDENTS.

Rogers to Send More Pupils Next Year Than Ever Before In Its History.

The Rogers High School will have the distinction next year of sending more pupils to college than ever before in its history. There are at present 33 students in the college English class, nine girls and 24 boys, which exceeds by 14 the previous record number of 19, last year. Fourteen colleges in all probability will have Rogers graduates as members next fall.

Of the 24 boys, six plan to go to Harvard, five will go to Worcester Polytechnic Institute, four are to enter Brown, Cornell will receive two, while Princeton, Yale, Oberlin, Dartmouth, Holy Cross, and Augustana College, Indiana, will have one each. One of the boys is undecided at which college he will matriculate.

Pembroke will receive the largest number of girls, four planning to choose that as their alma mater; two will enter Wellesley, while the same number will go to Mount Holyoke. The other girl is going to Trinity College, Washington. The number is far above the usual percentage of students who enter college from Rogers.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES.

Local Troop Addressed by Hugh L. Taylor of Washington.

The weekly meeting of the Boy Scouts Thursday evening was made especially interesting by the presence of Scout Master Hugh L. Taylor of Washington and Mr. William R. Lewis, who assisted the Scouts on their hike to Boston last summer. Mr. Taylor told of the Scout activities in Washington, speaking of their work in connection with the inauguration of President Wilson in March and the reunion of the Civil War veterans at Gettysburg in July and showing a number of photographs of the Scouts in their various duties. Mr. Lewis had little to say, but received a hearty welcome and was made to feel that his assistance last summer was appreciated.

Scoutmaster Gatzenmeier presided and directed the Scouts in their semaphore drills and marching movements.

Several of the Scouts are making final preparations for their first class examinations. Two will take their test Saturday, either on a 14-mile hike, or a boat trip along or with one other scout. To complete their examinations they must write a description of their trip and submit it to the scout master.

SURPRISE AND BIRTHDAY PARTY.

A surprise and birthday party was given in honor of Chief Gunner's Mate Hug Wednesday evening at his home on Thames street. The party started with a straw ride around the Ocean drive. Later the guests were entertained with a salad supper at Mr. Hug's home, served by Mrs. Hug, assisted by Mrs. J. W. Laird, Mrs. Harvey C. Brown, Mr. Eggleston and E. C. Cope. The table and house was decorated with golden rod and autumn leaves. Piano selections were rendered by Miss Theresa Schoentzler and Mr. Lundholm, U. S. N., while Mrs. Brown and Mr. John Mullady gave vocal selections. Mr. Hug received many useful and beautiful presents.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

General W. W. Wotherspoon, U. S. A., has joined his family at their cottage on the Shore road for a few days.

Mr. G. R. Stearns and family of Augusta, Ga., have closed their cottage on Green lane and left for Boston.

Work on the addition to the schoolhouse, which was progressing quite rapidly, was held up today by the rain.

Mrs. L. Brooks of Lafayette, R. I., is guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Arnold on Howland avenue.

Mr. W. M. Barber has left on a short trip to Washington.

The attendance from the island at the Kingston Fair Thursday was quite large, considering the hard rain in the early morning.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Poe and their son, who have spent the season at "Harmony Villa," have returned to their home in Baltimore.

Mrs. Nevins and family have closed their cottage on the Dumplings and left for Riverton, N. J.

Mr. W. H. Frampton of New York is visiting Dr. and Mrs. George L. Wilcox at their cottage here.

Mr. J. S. L. Wharton has left his summer home on the Dumplings. He and his family are cruising to Philadelphia on his motor yacht Vega and reached Stonington Thursday evening.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

Assault Case From Tiverton Appealed by Caulfield For October Session.

Judge Kelley presided in the district court this morning and listened to a well contested case from Tiverton, Chief Manchester and several witness from that town being in court. It was a criminal matter, John Caulfield being charged with assault on George Budieng, and Messrs. Nolan and Burdick conducted and argued the case. The date of the offense was August 26, and the car track, near the waiting room at the Tiverton end of the Stone Bridge the scene. There was evidence of vile words and blows.

It was argued by their respective lawyers that each of the men was the aggrieved and self-defending party, but Judge Kelley with keenness and dispatch decided that it was a mutual affair, and sentenced Caulfield to pay $10 and costs. An appeal was taken and $100 bail given, with Henry Ibbottson as surety. A similar sentence was imposed on Budieng some time ago. He had the wisdom to plead guilty and pay, which saved him a neat bit of money. Caulfield's case will swell the already notably large criminal docket of the October session of the superior court.

John Quinn was set at liberty upon paying the familiar sum of $2 and costs.

Frank Rose, who was charged with trundling a bicycle on a sidewalk on Bath road, had Judge Burke for counsel, and was accomodated with a withdrawal of the warrant upon paying costs.

BLOWS UP HIS HOME.

Insane Man of Bloomington Kills Himself and Daughter.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 19.—In a demoniacal fit of insanity, Mack Hurst, 50 years old, a stone mason, blew up his home with dynamite about 3 o'clock this morning, killing himself and one daughter, fatally wounding two other daughters and demolishing the house. Mrs. Hurst, in some remarkable manner, escaped.

The dead are: Mack Hurst, 50 years old and Maude Hurst, 16 years old.

Those fatally hurt are: Fannie Hurst, 13 years old, one leg blown off, body mangled and almost unrecognizable. Elizabeth Hurst, six years old, body mangled.

But little is known of the tragedy beyond the results. Mrs. Hurst, who escaped injury, says her husband awoke the family at 3 o'clock and told them to gather in his bedroom. After they had all entered he closed and locked the door and said: "We will all die together." Then he picked up a stick of dynamite from the floor and threw it under the bed. There was a deafening roar and Mrs. Hurst remembered nothing more until she came to consciousness at the home of a neighbor nearly an hour later.

The noise of the explosion awoke the whole city. Police and firemen hastened to the scene and began a search of the ruins. The bodies of Hurst and his dead daughter were found in a mass of debris at the rear of the home. The other two daughters were in another part of the ruins. Both were unconscious and it was some time before they were revived. Neither was able to tell anything of the occurrence. Every pane of glass for a block around was broken and other minor damages were done to homes in the immediate vicinity.

Hurst, who had not been working for some time, had been acting strangely of late and an inquisitorial body had declared him insane. It was not thought, however, that his insanity was of a violent kind and no preparations for his custody had been made.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Navy tugs Ontario and Sonoma have sailed.

—Mr. Chester F. Carr left today for Washington, to remain several months.

—Mr. Dudley G. Gautier is guest of Mr. Lispenard Stewart at "White Lodge."

—Mr. H. Carey Morgan of New York is guest of Mr. Milton S. Barger at "Edna Villa."

—Miss Ruth F. Haire, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Haire, has entered Wellesley College.

—Mrs. J. B. Wainwright of New York is now visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith on Cotton's court.

Ensign Helster Hoogewerff has been detached from the Minnesota and ordered to the Constellation.

Mr. John R. Drexel, who returned from Europe on the Imperator, is at the St. Regis Hotel, New York.

—Mr and Mrs. Charles Walbridge of Springfield, Mass., are guests of Colonel and Mrs. John C. Seabury on Bull street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Garrettson have left on a trip to Canada and the Yellowstone Park. They will return to Newport about the middle of October.

—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan have closed their cottage, "Seawood," near Bailey's beach, and returned to their home in Philadelphia for the winter.

—Messrs. J. Harris and E. Hofmann of this city are passengers on North German Lloyd Steamship Berlin, leaving New York today for Naples and Genoa, via Gibraltar and Algiers.

—Lieutenant Commander W. S. Bryant has been detached from the Naval War College, where he has been in attendance at the short course, and ordered to the naval radio station, Radio, Va.

—At the Rochester, N. Y., horse show Mr. Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Pirene was awarded first prize in the class for small harness horses, and his pair, The Duke and Holly Ringing Bells were third for women's pairs.

—The new automobile fire wagon was out Thursday for practice running and covered 15 miles during the exercise. This is more than would be traveled in responding to several alarms and still it did not seem as if the machine was out long.

—Second Lieutenant Walter L. Clark, coast artillery corps, has been relieved from assignment to the One Hundred and Tenth company at Fort Greble, placed on the unassigned list and ordered to report to Colonel C. H. Hunter, commanding the coast defenses of Narragansett, at Fort Adams for staff duty.

—Chief Boatswain's Mate Frank Brown (retired), who dropped into Newport last week to renew old acquaintances, is remaining over for the Chief Petty Officers' Club ball. He was formerly president of that organization and took so much interest in it that after retirement and removal to Brooklyn he came here to preside at the meetings.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Warren will close their Newport residence, "Seafields," October 6 and go to New York. Their daughter, the Countess de Lasteyrie, and her husband will join them here next summer and remain for the entire season. Improvements will be started this autumn at "Seafields," to include additional accommodations for the countess and her guests.

—Mrs. Lewis Quentin Jones gave a luncheon Thursday afternoon at her residence, "Bayview", on Harrison avenue, for Mrs. Daniel B. Fearing. Mrs. J. Fred Pierson, Jr., gave a luncheon at the Parker cottage and Mr. Robert Boorman a luncheon at "Pine Lodge." Mrs. Richard Gambrill gave a dinner in the evening at her residence on Bellevue avenue.

—Mr. Wilfred H. Chapin left Thursday afternoon to assume his new duties as general secretary of the New Bedford Young Men's Christian Association. Mrs. Chapin and their daughter left Wednesday for Boston and will join Mr. Chapin in New Bedford the latter part of the month, when they expect to have a house ready for occupancy. Mr. Chapin was about the city Thursday afternoon, bidding good-bye to friends.

—At the meeting of the Junior Brotherhood of the First Presbyterian Church, Thursday evening, a farewell was given to James H. Williamson, one of its members, a graduate of the Rogers High School, who will leave Monday evening to enter Rhode Island College. Mr. Williamson was presented by the Brotherhood with a scarf pin, the presentation being made by Allister J. McIver. A social hour, with refreshments, followed.

CONFERENCE ON TARIFF CHANGES.

Democratic Senators Will Have Advantage Over Members of the House.

Chairman Underwood Shows Determination to Insist on Restoration of Some Clauses.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The Democrats of the Senate will have the best of the Democrats of the House in the conference on the tariff bill. The Democratic Senators can point out the narrow margin they had on one or two schedules and that the caucus agreement extended only to passing the bill in the form presented by the finance committee—not to agree to the conference which made any great change from the Senate bill.

And then, which is very important, the Senators have the President behind them. The changes which the Senate made suit the President, and it is doubtful whether Leader Underwood, powerful as he is in the House, would like to go back for an endorsement in a disagreement with the Senate as long as the Senate conferees have President Wilson behind them.

And besides, after two weeks' rest the Senate will again be ready to talk. More especially the Progressives will make a strong protest should there be any particular change in the graduated income tax. In fact, it would be very hard to get the House to agree to the Underwood rate as against the Senate rate on incomes unless the whole bill is tied up so that it must be accepted or rejected in one vote.

Chairman Underwood has shown considerable determination to insist upon the restoration of a number of House provisions, and it will be strange if he does not have his way, but he will have to surrender to the Senate on many items.

"The man from Alaska" came to Washington a few days ago, and, as usual, he is not satisfied, because Congress is neglecting the big territory, but that has been a common complaint of the man from Alaska for many years. "The bankers are not business men; the politicians are not business men," said this particular man from Alaska. "Now, how are we to secure a business administration?" And he went on to show how he had put up a perfectly fair proposition to Secretary Lane for the administration of Alaska, but the Secretary said it was politically inexpedient; hence the wail of the man from Alaska.

Evidently Minority Leader Mann longs for the days of Willis Moore as chief of the Weather Bureau. "Since we have had the Weather Bureau under scientific management," he told the House one day, "we have had a great many weather mistakes. I prefer more practical results and less scientific failures." And at that the same men who made forecasts under Moore are making the forecasts now.

The House of Representatives, particularly that portion which looks to public building appropriations as a means for helping to secure re-election, woke up the other day to the fact that it has for chairman of the public buildings committee a man who has distinct and economical ideas. Frank Clark of Florida gave utterance to this startling and unique idea:

"I believe we have reached the time when construction of public buildings at the expense of the government in little 2 by 4 towns ought to cease. The business should be conducted upon a practical, common sense basis. When we can secure suitable quarters in a town at a rental less than would pay the interest on money invested in a building, then a building should not be constructed."

That is a new doctrine, as millions of dollars have heretofore been appropriated for buildings in 2 by 4 towns where rented buildings could be obtained for less than half the interest on the cost and maintenance of the building.

There were just 46 members of the 435 in the House one day during the currency debate, and this was a fair average, judging from appearances. One reason was because the bill had been fixed up in caucus, and no amount of discussion or argument could have changed it. There is complaint about this method of legislation, mainly because the most important discussion goes on behind closed doors.

There is not much poetry in the tariff and less in Senator Catron of New Mexico, or, at least, that is what we all supposed until his speech on wool and Western industries appeared in the Senate proceedings, and we saw that he dropped into poetry, quoting from John Hay's celebrated "Prairie Belle," when Jim Bludso held "her nozzle agin the bank 'til the last galoot's ashore."

SEEKS REFUGE IN A TREE.

Eggleston Township Farmer Attacked by a Bull.

MUSKEGON, Mich., Sept. 19.—Attacked by a bull and forced to take refuge in a tree, which later caught fire from burning brush, was the thrilling experience of R. T. Lane, a farmer of Eggleston township, living near here, yesterday. Lane managed to beat out the fire in the tree, but had his eyebrows burned off and his clothing scorched. The bull kept in the neighborhood of the tree and Lane was unable to make his escape for several hours. Finally a line of fire forced the bull away from the tree and Lane was able to descend. He fled through the hot embers of the brush fire.

MUST BELIEVE IT.

When Well-Known Newport People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Newport the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every sufferer of kidney backache, every man, woman or child with kidney trouble will do well to read the following:

W. Kirby, 138 Thames St., Newport, R. I., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and irregular action of my kidneys. One box was all I needed to cure the troubles. I am glad to recommend them."

Mr. Kirby is only one of many Newport people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Kirby had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. The Carbon-Copy Test that Proves the Superiority of the work produced by the Monarch.

Try this experiment: Take several sheets of writing paper with carbons between; place them on a flat surface and drop a lead pencil, point down, from a height of 18 or 20 inches. Note the clearness of the dot, even on the bottom sheet. Now make a dot by pressing the pencil into the paper, and then examine your carbon copies. The top one will show clear enough but the others will be faint and blurred.

Monarch Light Touch

This simple demonstration illustrates the light touch principle of the Monarch Typewriter. The action of the Creeping Fulcrum of the Monarch type bar is such that it throws the type face against the paper with a quick tap—not a slow push. This means clear impressions on the maximum number of carbon copies.

Monarch "Light Touch" is more than a mere talking point. It is a mechanical fact, and is one of the recognized features of the Monarch Typewriter. We are always glad to demonstrate this and other valuable features of the Monarch, and request those interested to write us for illustrated, descriptive literature.

We can arrange for a demonstration of the Monarch in your own office.

PIMPLES COVERED ENTIRE BODY

Spread to Head and Formed Thick Crust. Burning Itching As If On Fire. Scratched Day and Night. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Two Months.

20 Grace St., Springfield, Mass.—"When my little boy was born he had a clean and clear skin, but at the end of a month I perceived that he was breaking out on the forehead and left arm with a quantity of red pimples which discharged and spread until they covered his entire body. It spread rapidly to his head and formed a thick crust which discharged. The trouble caused him a burning itching as if he were on fire. He began to scratch until the blood flowed in abundance; he scratched day and night without being able to sleep. I kept his hands, arms and legs bandaged for a year. You can imagine what a grieved mother I was.

"I tried three treatments which did not afford him any relief. He scratched himself until he was three years old. It was then I commenced to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. At the first application I perceived that the itching was not so intense so I continued with assurance. At the end of two months my child was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Ulderic Auclair, Mar. 31, 1913.

FOR PANAMA EXPOSITION.

New York Sculptors Busy on Models For Colossal Statuary.

Nineteen New York sculptors are busy on works for the Panama exposition, according to Karl Bitter, chief of the department of sculpture of the fair. Literally carloads of sculpture will be sent from that city to San Francisco. With two or three exceptions, all the plastic work for the fair is being done there. The sculptors are turning out models which are usually about one third of the size of the actual pieces. These are sent to the sculpture workshop of the exposition, where under the direction of Mr. A. Stirling Calder of New York, copies are made of the size desired. Many of the groups are colossal.

The following New York sculptors are modelling statuary for the exposition: Messrs. Daniel Chester French, Herbert Adams, Charles Neihaus, Frederick G. R. Roth, Albert Jaegers, Furis Picirilli, Sherry E. Fry, Leo Lentelli, Robert Aitken, F. M. L. Tonetti, Adolph A. Weinman, Isidore Konti, Guzon Borglum, Herman A. MacNeil, Charles C. Rumsey and Paul Manship, and Mrs. Evelyn Beatrice Longman, Mrs. Henry Payne Whitney and Mrs. Edith Woodman Burroughs.

The sculpture of the Tower of Jewels will be by Mr. Tonetti, while at one side of it will be a "Fountain of El Dorado," by Mrs. Whitney, and a "Fountain of Youth," by Mrs. Burroughs. Mr. Jaegers is giving plastic form to "Rain" and "Sunshine."

The Column of Progress, which is to be 190 feet high and 15 feet in diameter, is to be adorned by Mr. MacNeil and Mr. Konti. A group at the top by Mr. MacNeil will show a gigantic man in attitude of launching a new idea, symbolized by a bow with the arrow aped. He is sustained by a younger man, while a woman places a laurel wreath at his feet.

The Court of the Four Seasons will have great groups typifying the seasons, by Mr. Furia Picirilli, while its forecourt will present Ceres, goddess of agriculture, by Mrs. Longman. The Court of the Sun and Stars will have an arch of the rising sun typifying the nations of the Orient, the work of Messrs. Calder, Roth and Lentelli, and an arch of the setting sun, surmounted by a huge group typifying Western civilization. Mr. Aitken is modelling gigantic groups symbolizing the four elements—fire, water, earth and air—and Mr. Paul Manship four groups entitled "Order," "Chaos," "Eternity" and "Change."

WHAT BECOMES OF THE MONEY?

[Indianapolis News.]

Here is a little problem in the popular course, "What becomes of the money?" A small bundle of linen is sent to the laundry. The bill is 30 cents. But in doing the work the laundry loses a house cap worth 50 cents. The laundry willingly adjusts matters and gives its patron 50 cents for the lost cap. The patron, in turn, gives 30 cents back to the laundry for the work done. In reckoning the result this was apparently the case. The owner of the linen—minus the missing cap—had 20 cents to show for the lost article. But the cap was worth 50 cents. Therefore the patron's loss would appear to be 30 cents. It apparently was no better with the laundry. The laundry received the 30 cents justly due it for work. But it felt impelled to make good the loss of the cap to the customer, which meant the taking of 50 cents from the laundry's profits. Now if the laundry thus lost 50 cents and the customer lost 30 cents, who got that money? Perhaps some expert on the high cost of living can figure it out.

PRINCESS KILLS HERSELF.

Her Engagement to a Banker Disapproved by Reigning Grand Duke.

HEIDELBERG, ermany, GSept. 18.—Princess Sophia of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, a beautiful young woman, unusually popular, of sunny disposition and much courted by the officers with whom she often rode behind the hounds at the Baden court hunts, committed suicide today. Her body, with a bullet wound in the temple, was found in her room in the palace of her father, Prince William.

The princess was engaged to Han von Bleichroeder, eldest son of the senior member of one of the most powerful banking houses in Germany. When the engagement was announced prematurely, some months ago, it was learned that the reigning grand duke, Prince William Ernest, strenuously objected to the union unless the princess renounced all her titles and dignities. This she refused to do.

Princess Sophia and her parents were much beloved in Heidelberg for the interest they had taken in the poor and the general public welfare, although the father was by no means wealthy and was living on an appanage from the reigning grand duke. As the head of the family, the grand duke objected to the union of the princess with a man who occupied an inferior station in life. Her father, it is said, was inclined to accede to his daughter's wishes, but was unable to take an independent stand, owing to his financial relations with the grand duke.

While the princess had been prevented from marrying Von Bleichroeder, they had often been seen together at Heidelberg since the engagement was announced. He studied for several years at Heidelberg and made the doctor's degree last winter.

The Princess was only 25 years old, having been born July 25, 1888. A brother, Prince Hermann, resigned from the Prussian army several years ago. He settled in London and married an Italian actress. Compelled to renounce his titles, he took the name of Count Ostheim.

VALUABLE BOOTY SECURED.

Toledo Automobile Tourists Held Up by Thieves Near Bryan, Ohio.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Sept. 18.—Motoring from Toledo westward, Herman C. G. Luyties of St. Louis and party of five were held up by three men in an automobile, six miles east of Bryan, Ohio, at 12:30 this morning. They covered the tourists with revolvers, the thieves securing $2,000 in chas, a gold purse carried by one of the women, several diamonds and other jewelry.

The robbers drove away with the two cars, leaving the Luyties party in the road. They walked to a farm house, were driven to Bryan, and aroused Sheriff Weinland of Williams county. Following the tire tracks, he found the two automobiles at a farm house, out of gasoline. As he approached, Weinland was shot in the left arm and another bullet inflicted a flesh wound in his head. He grappled with one man and arrested him. The prisoner said he was R. W. Duffy, aged 26 of Toledo. Two other suspects were taken later from a passenger train at Wauson.

With Luyties in the automobile which was held up were Charles Bye, St. Louis; W. E. Cregier, New York, and two women who gave thier names as Mrs. Smith and daughter of St. Louis.

USED MAILS TO DEFRAUD.

Walter C. Fernald Arrested in New York on Return from Abroad.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—For several years the postal authorities have kept watch abroad of Walter C. Fernald. Today they caught him when he returned to the United States on steamer Majestic. Fernald was indicted in Trenton, N. J., several years ago on a charge of using the mails in a conspiracy to defraud. The crime is not extraditable and since 1908 the postal authorities have been watching for an opportunity to get the man within their jurisdiction.

RESULT OF OVER PRODUCTION.

Depression in Rubber Trade Causes Economic Crisis in Antwerp.

ANTWERP, Sept. 18.—Depression in the world's rubber trade has caused an economic crisis here. Many of the rubber companies in the Congo have discharged their European agents and large bodies of native rubber collectors. It is said that over production of rubber has caused prices on the international markets to be reduced below the cost of gathering and transporting the rubber.

Now for the Fall!

Perhaps it's a fall weight rather than a lighter suit that you want just now. If so have it for you, and one of the finest lines in town to choose it from—all Rogers Peet make—in the best of styles. Prices now range from $18 to $22 instead of from $20 to $30.

And it may be that you need a light Fall Overcoat for these cool evenings. I've also reduced these from $20, $25 and $30 down to $18, $20 and $23.

Fall Hats now in, too.

NEW YORK LETTER.

World's Greatest Man-Made Structur Planned for Business Purposes.

Boy "Cops" Do Good Work—A Merry Taxicab War—City Hall Park May Yet Be Beautiful.

[Correspondence of The News.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Engineers everywhere are evincing much interest in a stupendous building operation well under way in New York, which is to result in the largest man-made structure on the face of the globe, built for business purposes. Among its unique features is to be a mammoth coffer-dam, the largest of its kind ever constructed. It is to form a protection for the foundation wall of the foundation of the new Equitable building, now being erected on the same site as that on which stood its predecessor, destroyed in the remarkable fire.

This edifice, covering the whole of one of the most valuable of all city blocks, will tower 36 stories, a gigantic mass on sinewy steel, curved stone and polished marble. It will contain more than 1,000,000 square feet of rentable space, to accommodate 15,000 or more workers. It will also be the heaviest of all buildings, weighing no less than 200,000 tons, and must needs have underpinning sufficiently strong and stable; by all means proof against water from below.

As at this point bed rock is 80 feet below the street level, and nearly as far below the water level, not a stone may be laid until provision has been made to keep out every drop of leakage. Hence the necessity of enclosing the underground portion of this gargantuan edifice with a mighty coffer-dam, which when completed will be a solid, steel strengthened wall of concrete, six feet thick, 80 feet deep, about 1,000 feet in length and protecting absolutely from moisture an area of about 50,000 square feet. That the great Woolworth building, with its 51 stories, weighs only 100,000 tons, will afford some idea as to the massive construction to be shielded by this monstrous coffer-dam.

The enlistment of New York school boys as park police is an innovation that promises to be far-reaching, maybe rivalling the Boy Scout movement in point of numbers as well as of actual usefulness. It was a happy inspiration that prompted a few of the boys who use Central Park as a recreation ground to volunteer, several months ago, their assistance in preventing depredations and the littering of the park with papers and other rubbish. There are now enlisted in the boys' park protective league more than 300 of these youthful "cops", whose sense of civic pride and responsibility augurs trouble for those disposed to abuse the privileges that these breathing spots afford. The park commissioner has turned over to the boys as their police headquarters a picturesque cabin, formerly used in connection with a sportsmen's exhibit, and each officer is armed to the teeth with a police whistle so that, in case of inability to handle a violator of the park rules they can readily summon a patrolman.

It remains to be learned how such co-operation is going to be received by the regular policemen who have been reveling in the "soft snap" assignments to park posts. To a considerable extent their duties are being taken over by the very ones whose pranks have heretofore made their presence necessary, and many of them will probably thank these boys for their transfers to more active assignments.

New York is in the midst of a merry taxicab war, in which no one seems to know where he stands or how much a ride is going to cost. The whole situation arises from the recent action of the board of aldermen in reducing the legal rate of charges and abolishing the private cab stands at hotels and restaurants, by which a practical monopoly of the trade was controlled by a few men. The taxicab trust immediately secured an injunction against the enforcement of the ordinance, while the independents accepted it gratefully. Another complication was added, when the latter discovered that in many cases they were not to be allowed to seek fares at certain hotels and restaurants. Now, still another angle has turned up, as the legal sharps have discovered that a man owning a cab can house it in a garage and go out on telephone orders without having his motor or cab inspected, or being examined as to his own fitness. By connivance with a Raines law hotel proprietor, for instance, he can respond to the order of a guest for a public cab and then over-charge or rob him, as the opportunity presents. If the fare is over-charged he has no redress as the cab owner does not occupy a public stand. Under the circumstances it behooves the public to look for the cab license, which is prominently displayed. Altogether, the situation is pretty well muddled.

Prospects are that out of the passing of the historic old Astor House, at Broadway and Vesey street, will grow a further shifting of landmarks and a notable change for the better in the arrangement of things down City Hall way. As the Broadway subway, now under construction, is to pass directly under the lower half of the hotel site, the public service commission will proceed at once to raze that portion, leaving the northerly half to be demolished later on. Meanwhile, rumors are that the United States government may buy the hotel plot and erect a modern office building to replace the out-of-date and unsightly general postoffice building directly opposite, in which event the triangle which it occupies would revert to New York city and would undoubtedly be made an addition, not only in size, but to the beauty and utility of City Hall Park. Such a move on the part of the federal authorities would be most timely in view of the prospective early removal view of the prospective to its handsome new home, now nearing completion at Eighth Avenue and Thirty third street.

The hotels of Gotham have enjoyed an unprecedented August rush of business. Not only the houses catering especially to commercial and sight-seeing travelers, but even apartment hotels which can be cajoled into waiving their long lease scruples have housed all the visitors they could accommodate. This cheerful state of affairs is ascribed chiefly to the coming of buyers from all sections much later than usual, having held back as long as they dared, hoping to see just what was going to happen to the tariff. The season is now so nearly upon them that they simply had to make their fall and winter selections and be ready to display them.

Longacre.

Fludder and Elvira Fudder, his wife, to Norman Tefft Fludder, lot 7 of the Rush estate, bounded northwesterly, 45 feet, on Rush street; northeasterly, 57.8 feet, on lot 9; southeasterly, 45 feet, on land of Theodore and Nellie Bigalke, and southwesterly, 58.5 feet, on land of Peter Pedersen.

Stephen H. Arnold and John Henshaw of Providence, trustees under the will of Seth Padelford, deceased, to Otto L. Ruecker and Sophie L. Ruecker, wife, as joint tenants, a tract of land bounded easterly, 74.31 feet, on Gibbs avenue (formerly North Kay street); southerly, 99.55 feet, on land formerly of Clarence G. Alger; westerly, partly on land of said Alger, partly on and of Sophie L. Ruecker and partly on land of the Newport Hospital, 122 feet; northerly on land of John Mason, 110.3 feet, being lots 31 and 42 on the Padelford plat, surveyed by H. H. Swinburne in 1876, and containing 9,763.70 square feet, more or less.

John L. Cummings and wife, to James E. Kesson, land and improvements, bounded northerly on Bellow avenue, 83 feet; easterly on land now or formerly of Thurston, 30 feet; southerly on land of grantor, 83 feet, and westerly on Cummings road, 80 feet, being lots 19 and 20 on the Cummings plat surveyed by Joseph P. Cotton.

John Andersen and Rose Andersen, wife, to James J. Murphy and Elizabeth F. Murphy, his wife, as tenants by entirety, land and improvements partly in Newport and partly in Middletown, bounded easterly on land of Frederick A. Clarake, 150 feet; northerly on land formerly of John N. A. Griswold, 50 feet; westerly on other land of said Rose Anderson, 45 feet, and southerly by Vernon avenue 45 feet.

Anna F. Hunter to Pierre Barriere, a parcel of land bounded southerly upon a court next north of Van Zandt avenue, leading west from Farewell street, 140 feet; easterly on other land of grantor, 100 feet; northerly on other land of grantor, 140 feet, and westerly on the railroad, 100 feet, he to maintain all fences between said land and other land of grantor.

BUILDING ACTIVITIES.

There is building activity, as appears from the files of Inspector Sullivan, who by the way says it will be a tin and not a shingle roof on the little addition being built on West Marlborough street, within the fire district.

Duncan McLean asks a permit to build an addition, 8 by 40 feet, to the greenhouses at "Swanhurst" Bellevue avenue.

Thomas Vayro is to build a cottage with slate roof on Hall avenue.

Mary Hayes will raise a building at the corner of Moss court and Wellington avenue and place a foundation under it.

John F. Collins will build a cottage, 25 by 40 feet with slate roof, on Braman court.

E. C. Hayes is to make a small addition, 15 feet long, to his barn on Sheffield avenue.

Garrett M. Kirwin will build a brick stable, 22 by 30 feet, on Goodwin street.

TO HELP FARM WOMEN.

The Secretary of Agriculture Asks Suggestions From Wives and Daughters.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston within the next few days will address a letter to the women members of 50,000 farm households throughout the United States, requesting them to give him information as to how the Department of Agriculture can best serve the needs of the farm women. These letters will be addressed "To Housewives in the homes of the official crop correspondents" and will be sent to the full list of crop correspondents for transmission to the women members of their households. With each letter will be supplied a return envelope in which women can forward their suggestions.

This inquiry results from the receipt of a letter addressed to the secretary in which the writer said: "The farm woman has been the most neglected factor in the rural problem and she has been especially neglected by the national Department of Agriculture."

This letter was written not by a woman but by a broad-minded man, so thoroughly in touch with the agricultural and domestic needs of the country that his opinions have great weight. Following the receipt of this letter, the secretary determined that the best way for the department to learn how to give these women the fullest possible aid and service, which their important place in agricultural production warrants, was to write to the women themselves and ask them to make their own suggestions.

In the letter these women are invited to give individual answers to the letter or to discuss the matter in their church societies or women's organizations and submit answers representing the combined opinions of the women of their entire communities. The answers are requested not later than November 15, and this date is set because it will give the women time after harvest to consider the matter and discuss it with their women neighbors.

This letter will go to about 20 leading farms in each of the 2,800 counties of the United States. Their answers, it is expected, will represent the views and opinions of upwards of 500,000 farm women. These answers will be carefully considered by the specialists of the department having to do with that branch of agricultural activity.

A LOT of storekeepers are going around with blinders on. They only half see things, and usually it is the wrong half that they see. It is like this with the parcel post. Some merchants can only see the good it is going to do the mail order houses. They don't see its possibilities for themselves.

THE PARCEL POST GIVES THE SMALL DEALER A FINE FIELD WITHIN HIS OWN TERRITORY. In his zone no outsider can compete with him, as far as cost of shipping and quickness of delivery are concerned. The parcel post places the local business man within touch of a bigger buying public than he ever dreamed of in other days. The purchasers of his goods are only waiting to be told his address.

CHALLENGED SENATORS RETAIN THEIR SEATS.

had their request denied by their colleagues.

His precedents ranged in time from seventeenth century in England to 1909, when, during the impeachment of John H. Shively, auditor of the state of Washington, 16 of the 42 members of the senate were challenged and all "were overwhelmingly overruled." In the Shively case, Judge Parker pointed out that it had bn held that a senator's vote belonged to his constituents and to himself.

The only precedent in support of the challenges, he said, was one in which a Senator had been excluded because he was a brother of the accused. He did not specifically mention the case referred to.

"With all the preponderance of precedent overwhelmingly against the right of challenge clearly in mind," he said, "the framers of our constitution did not see fit to include it in provisions which would permit members of the highest court of the state to be challenged merely because they had served on committees or commissions primarily responsible for the impeachment."

Touching on the contention that Senator Wagner should not sit, Judge H. Parker insisted that the senator was not in reality the lieutenant governor, but merely acting as president pro tem of the senate. He added, however, that if Senator Wagner were to become lieutenant governor he would not be directly affected by the proceeding, because it was the governorship and not the lieutenant governorship that was at stake.

Judge Parker emphasized the fact that if the constitution permitted challenges it might be possible so to reduce the membership of the court that a majority could not be assembled, in which event it would be impossible to pass upon the guilt or innocence of the accused.

Judge Herrick declared that if a majority were endangered recourse could be had to the common law rule, which in effect provides that even if a judge is under arrest and no other judge is available, the judge in custody is permitted to sit in judgment on a case. In this manner he claimed ample provision had been given every person accused of crime his day in court. He inquired why "these four senators" had not followed the precedents cited by the Assembly managers counsel and asked to be excused.

There being no request for lengthy deliberation, Judge Cullen stated that he would not take advantage of the provision of the rules which gave him power to decide the question first and permitted his decision to stand unless an appeal to the entire court were sustained. He said he felt it his duty to give his fellow-members of the court his opinion in the matter. He then declared his belief that the challenges could not be maintained.

At the conclusion of his statement Senator Herrick of New York, half-brother of Judge D. Cady Herrick, moved that the court consider the question in executive session.

When put to a vote, his own was the only one in the affirmative.

The roll-call on the question, "Shall the challenges be entertained," was then begun. Senators Frawley, Ramsperger, Sanner and Wagner were excused from voting at their own request. With these exceptions the vote against entertaining the challenges was unanimous.

Judge Cullen then instructed Clerk McCabe to read the impeachment articles.

"What answer does the respondent interpose to the articles of impeachment filed by the Assembly?" queried Judge Cullen when Clerk McCabe had finished.

Judge Herrick stated pursuant to the notice yesterday that objection would be made to the validity of the impeachment. Louis Marshall of the governor's counsel, he said, would argue that point

Mr. Marshall first asked that the entire proceedings be dismissed, on the ground that "the court is without jurisdiction and the charges are null, void and of no effect." The principal attack was directed against the constitutionality of the action of the Assembly in adopting the impeachment articles during an extraordinary session, when the subject matter had not been recommended by the governor.

WOULD NOT ANSWER QUESTIONS

Special Graft Investigator Garrison Spends Night in a Cell.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Governor Sulzer's personal friend and special graft investigator, James C. Garrison, slept last night in a cell of the Albany County penitentiary. He was remanded to that institution by the sergeant-at-arms of the state Assembly for refusing to answer questions put to him by the Speaker, following arrest on a charge of contempt. Garrison's alleged offense was that several weeks ago he said legislators sold their votes on the resolution impeaching Governor Sulzer.

Plans by the Sulzer faction today were to obtain a writ of habeas corpus from the supreme court for the release of Garrison. Majority Leader Aaron J. Levy, however, claims that the Assembly had "plenary power to punish for contempt." If the courts should hold this view, Garrison might be kept in prison until next January, when a new legislature convenes. The alleged offense is unbailable, it is said.

The arrest of Garrison came as a climax to a night spent by the Assembly in an attempt to round up 76 votes necessary to pass additional articles of impeachment against Governor Sulzer. The body finally adjourned at 2:33 o'clock this morning, to re-assemble at noon. Meanwhile telegrams were sent to anti-Sulzer assemblymen who are out of the city, urging them to return here immediately.

The additional impeachment charges, it was said, had been drawn and would be presented on the appearance of a majority. Alleged usurpation of the functions of the executive office was one of the new charges, it was said. Certain changes in the language of the original impeachment charges also were planned, because of technical objections raised by attorneys.

Garrison, who had been about the capitol all night, strolled into the Assembly chamber early this morning to observe the proceedings there. When he attempted to depart, he found his way blocked by the Sergeant-at-arms. While Majority Leader Levy was presenting a resolution calling for the arrest of Garrison, he was held a prisoner in a cloak room. When called before the Speaker, Garrison was without counsel and he refused to answer questions put to him. Assemblyman Levy presented a resolution remanding the prisoner to the penitentiary until the close of the session, unless otherwise ordered by the Assembly. The vote for the resolution was 89 to 3.

A short time later Garrison was taken to the penitentiary, where he is held as an ordinary prisoner. Levy declared that unless Garrison purged himself of contempt he would have to remain in jail until January. "The assembly has plenary power to punish for contempt," he said. "Garrison also must remain in jail pending the court's decisoin, on his application for a writ. He cannot be released on bail."

Garrison had been called by many Governor Sulzer's press agent.

STORMED EGGISHORN HEIGHTS.

Mimic Warfare Above the Clouds Ended by Swiss Army.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 19.—An interesting program of mimic warfare above the clouds was brought to an end today by 600 mountaineers, forming a part of the Alpine section of the Swiss army, who have been manoeuvering for some days among the highest peaks of the Alps. The final movement in the plan was an attack on an imaginary enemy in occupation of the Eggishorn, a mountain 9,656 feet high. The battalion of 600 hardy Alpinists descended this morning from the Jungfrau Joch, 11,140 feet high, where they had bivouacked in the snow throughout the night. They executed a forced march across the great and perilous Aletsch glacier the loss of a single man from fatigue, the loss of a single man fro mfatigue, and concluded the splendid feat by storming the Eggishorn heights.

10:45—Today's trading in stocks began with narrow and irregular fluctuations and a small volume of business. Operators moved cautiously. New Haven and California Petroleum, which were conspicuously weak yesterday, opened a point lower, as did Canadian Pacific. New Haven sold at 86, within one-half of its low record. After the first few minutes of trading, an energetic effort was made to lift prices. Reading was bid up to within a fraction of its year's high price, gaining over a point. Lehigh Valley rose 2 and Can 1, and New Haven recovered its loss. The tone of the list in general grew stronger, although gains in most cases were small. The advance was of brief duration, however. Reading fell back a point and the other leaders receded with it.

Noon—Traders worked for a reaction today on the theory that the buoyancy of the market late yesterday was merely the result of a drive at the short interest, which had been largely reduced on the recent advance. Little was accomplished in lowering prices, except in the case of Union Pacific, which became weak after displaying a rising tendency. Speculative interest converged on Reading, whose swings were followed elsewhere within a narrower range. Fresh buying orders were uncovered on reactions of half a point or so, and bidding became more confident as the market exhibited a stronger tone. Lehigh, St. Paul, Reading, Peoples Gas, Seaboard preferred, Northern Pacific and Consolidated Gas gave demonstrations of strength at intervals, and the whole list showed a stronger tone at noon. Bonds were easy. Money on call, firm, at 3 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 5½ to 6 per cent. Exchanges, $500,341,272; balances, $16,468,802.

A TYPICAL FAIR DAY.

State Politicians at Kingston Discuss Government and Farming.

Governor's day at the Kingston Fair Thursday had the same strong attraction for politicians and state officials as of old, notwithstanding the fact that there is no state election this fall. It was the day for renewing old acquaintances and coming in touch with the conditions in all parts of the state.

The day did not pass off, however, without a political tinge. Former Congressman William Paine Sheffield made a vigorous appeal to the citizens of the South County to retain their system of financial town meetings. He took a stand against the abolition of the property qualification, so far as the right of the registry voter to vote on matters pertaining to the finances of a municipality is concerned.

It was a typical fair day and one of the hottest that has been experienced in the south part of the state in weeks. When the sun broke through the clouds it was burning hot, and the 15,000 people on the grounds sweltered. In two of the tents waitresses were overcome by the heat and received medical attendance. Frequently persons would go to shady spots for relief from the intense heat.

Rain marred the opening exercises, the first time in 23 years that showers have fallen on Governor's day, according to Secretary A. Allen. The rain held back the crowd for a time, but finally the skies cleared and the throngs swept down on the fair grounds.

When the official party arrived at Kingston at noon it was met by Wickford Troop No. 36, Rhode Island Boy Scouts, Dr. P. J. Manning, Scoutmaster. The troop acted as the official escort for Lieutenant Governor Roswell B. Burchard and the other dignitaries.

Vice President John Babcock, as master of ceremonies, welcomed the gathering and introduced as the first speaker Howard Edwards of the Rhode Island State College, who delivered a eulogy of the late Jessie Van Buren Watson, for many years treasurer of the society and discussed farming and the work of the State college. President Edwards in his speech declared that before the state's agricultural resources can be developed fully the people must "put away the contempt for farming which seems to be frequent among our New England people."

Lieutenant Governor Burchard spoke for the state in the absence of Governor Pothier.

Congressman Gerry sent his secretary, J. F. Smithers to read his address, which, told of what the government is doing for the farmer.

FALSE ALARM PULLED.

Sounding of Box 431 Fails to Bring Out New Automobile Machine.

The first box alarm since the new automobile chemical went into commission was heard Thursday night, technically Friday morning. If the person who pulled it expected to see the new machine respond he made a mistake in the box, for the automobile does not respond to that box until the second round, and the second round never came in. It was a false alarm, and it came from box 431, on Bath road opposite Annandale road.

Just who pulled the box is a matter of guesswork, but it is suspected that some persons could guess pretty close who did it. Incidentally, whoever did it would not like to appear in the court house and answer to the charge of grading in a false alarm. That is the work of a sneak, or of one who wishes to profit by excitement caused by the false alarm, or one who is not compos mentis at the time.

It was 12:51 when the alarm came in. The firemen hastened to the box, discovered that there was no fire in the vicinity and promptly sent in the recall. This sounded at 12:57, or six minutes after the alarm—pretty quick work to reach the box and learn definitely that there was no occasion for an alarm.

There were some vagaries about the sounding of the alarm. It was different in different places, but the indications were that the alarm needs attention from some one if it is to tell the citizens just what box is intended to be sounded. People had an opportunity to make several different combinations from what was sounded, if they took only one round.

FOR STEAMSHIP TERMINUS.

A. Aronivici Still Working on Montauk Point Plan.

A Aronivici of Paris, who confessed that he is working on a plan to make Montauk Point a terminus for trans-Atlantic steamship lines, and has made something like 10 trips back and forth for that purpose, has arrived in New York. He would not admit that the plan was nearer accomplishment than when he was last here. He said he did not wish anybody to be misled.

"The fact is I have brought over several engineers," he said, "and we shall do some more work. I have made reports for the Hamburg-American line and for the Erie lines, but there is no news to give out. It would be a mistake to announce that the port project was to be carried out. There are certain features that have still to be reported upon."

NEWPORT'S NON-TAXPAYERS.

Tenants and Lodgers Not Those Who Receive Public Service for Nothing.

Many Who Pay Land Value Assessment Do Not Contribute Fair Share of Expenses.

To the Editor of the News:

Who are the "non-taxpayers" in Newport, the people who get "free police protection, free schools for their children, free hospital attendance," free everything else that the city furnishes? Of a certainty they are not those who do not own their homes or abodes. They are not the tenants and lodgers.

There are many home owners in Newport who year after year receive more public service than they pay for, no inconsiderable number of them two and even three times as much; but there are comparatively few tenants and lodgers who do not pay for all they get and more, too. This is not because they are, as a class, any more honest than the home owners, but because they can't help themselves.

The city of Newport should derive all of its revenue from its ground rents, but it doesn't. It levies at the rate of $1.25 per $100 of assessed value upon not only the land but the buildings and tangible personalty. It levies at the rate of 40 cents per $100 upon stocks, bonds, mortgage deeds, etc. Now a part of these levies falls upon rented dwellings, upon stores and warehouses and their contents, upon factories and their machinery, etc.; that is, upon capital. That part is passed on to consumers, including, of course, tenants and lodgers.

Who pays the tax on the tenement, the owner or the occupant? On the lodging-house, the owner or the roomers? Who pay the taxes on the business concerns of all kinds, the proprietors or the purchasers of the output, including, of course, tenants and lodgers?

The notion that only those who own property levied upon by the assessors pay taxes, unless it be poll taxes, is based upon ignorance of the distinction between direct and indirect taxes ignorance of the elementary economic fact that owners of capital pass the taxes along to their customers.

Let it be repeated that the tenants and lodgers in Newport are not the people who get public service for nothing. But there are individual real estate owners in Newport who get hundreds and in some cases thousands of dollars worth for which they do not pay a red cent.

If Newport had taxed nothing but the land, last year, a rate of $3.95 per $100 would have yielded substantially the same amount as was obtained from the general property tax. Assuming assessed valuations to have been reasonably correct, each resident of Newport, whether a land owner, a tenant or a lodger, would have contributed to the city treasurer a sum proportional to the value of the service rendered by securing him in exclusive possession or control of such portion or portions of the site of the city as he used for business and residential purposes.

Tenants and lodgers, as such and as general consumers, would have paid their ground rents, as they actually did; but the recipients would have had to pass to the city treasury very nearly three times as large a portion of what was paid them. Tenants and lodgers would have been relieved of the incidence of the taxation upon improvements and personalty used in business. As it was, they paid in ground rents for all the public service they received, and in addition their part of the incidence of the taxation on capital.

I have sent nearly or quite 100 letters to property taxpayers in Newport, most of them real estate owners, stating what their land value tax would have been in 1912, and the amount that they were over-charged. A majority of the real estate owners were over-charged, but 5 have had time to address only those who were over-charged beyond a certain limit. No letters were sent to the "propertyless masses," to borrow a phrase from the late Dr. Charles B. Spahr; or the "floaters and irresponsibles," as one of our Rhode Island statesmen has characterized them. There was no need. Every one of them who earned his living and paid his bills paid for more public service than he received.

If any of those who received more service than they paid for will send me their names, I will inform them of the amounts they were under-charged, the amounts of public service they received and didn't settle for. As before stated, these amounts run all the way from a few cents to hundreds and in some cases thousands of dollars. Assuming the correctness of assessed valuations, there is no way to impeach the figures I can furnish, except by showing material errors of computation or proving that land value is not the true, and the only true, measure of the value of public service.

Before deciding who ought to run things in Newport, wouldn't it be well to find out who and how many are falling materially short of contributing their fair share of the expense? That means everybody whose land value tax in 1912 would have been less than the tax he actually paid. It means a large number of wealthy and well-to-do residents, members of the class to whom it is proposed to give exclusive control of municipal affairs. I have the names of every one of them. They are in a volume entitled "1912 Tax Assessment of the City of Newport, Rhode Island."

BASE BALL NOTES.

In the second game in the series, played at Lowell Thursday, Lowell defeated Hartford, 2 to 0. Zeiser, who has been taken by the Boston Red Sox, held Hartford safe except in the eighth inning, when with two men on bases and none out Lowell worked in a Hebuning triple play which shut off all chances of scoring.

Jimmy Sheckard of the Cincinnati Reds will become a magnate next year, being sole owner of the Brockton team of the New England League. He will be remembered as a member of the Brockton team of 1897, under Walter Burnham, which tied Newport for the championship. Since then he has been with Brooklyn, Chicago and Cincinnati of the National League. Brockton has been in a bad way the past season and it was known that there was likely to be a change, but no one thought Sheckard would come back from the big league to take hold of his old team.

THE BIG PRIZE-WINNING TABLE.

The feature of the Horticultural Society's flower show Thursday was a public exhibition of the way tables are set for fine dinner parties. In this class the tables were to be completely set, ready for diners to take their seats. Not only was all the fine silver and glassware in place, in addition to the floral work, but there were dishes of fruit, cake and candy and even salt was not forgotten.

The illustration shows the entry of David Bird, with a centrepiece of pink cactus dahlias, which was awarded the chief prize of $25.

AUTOMOBILE FOR CHIEF KIRWIN.

Postponement of Vote on Second Machine, After Pope-Hartford Conference.

Movement to Secure Widening of Thames Street in Front of New Federal Building.

The meeting of the Board of Aldermen Thursday evening lasted only half an hour but there were one or two thrills, nevertheless.

In the first place a plan was advanced for procuring an automobile for Chief Kirwin, and it was announced that the chief approved it. This was a real thrill.

Alderman Kelly moved that no vote be taken on the purchase of a second automobile wagon, but that a special meeting for the purpose be held this evening. This caused a feeling of curiosity to know what was hidden in the background, which occasioned such a move after a conference in a corner by the Pope-Hartford men.

A plan to widen Thames street at the postoffice and the advancement of the plan before it is too late to be seriously considered was a third feature of the meeting. Credit was given to Park Commissioner Willard for having his eyes open to opportunities.

A lawyer and two newspaper men called the attention of the mayor after the meeting to the fact that the city had spent money in providing a meeting place for the Board of Aldermen, and that it was not convenient for citizens who have business with the board for the sessions to be held in the city clerk's office. Attention was also called to the fact that by gathering there the city fathers are a compact body and go through their proceedings in such a way that taxpayers, who have a right to hear what is going on, can only now and then receive a little enlightenment. The mayor said it was much more convenient to be down stairs, where the city records are readily accessible, and he believed that by assembling close together the members were disposed to discuss matters more fully than if seated some distance apart.

First came the approval of pay rolls, as follows: police department, $1,026.43; fire department, $583.24; City Hall, $279.27; firemen in theatres, $36; highway department, $2,279.32.

Application for three pool table licenses by George R. Mantas was referred to the alderman from the First ward, as it was stated that the building is not yet erected. The application of Manual Francis for transfer of eating house license was likewise referred.

Ten applications for hack licenses, 31 for drivers, 1 for wagon and 3 for drivers were granted, after Alderman Hughes had looked over the list.

The petitions of Florence S. Rose and Estelle W. Smith, for damages done to their dresses owing to alleged defective pavement on Thames street, were received back from the city solicitor with the endorsement that he failed to find the facts as stated sufficient to make the city liable. The petitioners were given leave to withdraw.

A petition of Henry C. Bachelier and others, for a gas light on Washington street between Walnut and Willow, was referred to the alderman from the First ward.

Damages done by dogs, in the killing of four hens, the property of John Siegrist, amounting to $5.20, were ordered paid according to law.

An invitation to attend the dance of the Chief Petty Officers' Club was accepted, as was also an invitation to attend the emancipation celebration at the Mt. Zion Church.

The letter from the Robinson Fire Apparatus Company, printed in the Daily News Wednesday, was read by the mayor and not commented upon.

Alderman Leddy reported, on the request for change of the gas light at Lawrence and Ochre Point avenues, that it does not light the sidewalk and by moving it two feet it would, and that it could be moved without expense to the city. The post needs straightening, for in its exposed position in the public way it has apparently been run into. Alderman Hughes thought it would be well not to change it, as the appearance of Colonel Sheffield at the last meeting, with a request that it should not be disturbed, suggested that it would complicate matters in the Abney-Twombly dispute. The aldermen decided that the light was on public property, that it was not doing the duty for which it was erected and that it should be changed regardless of personal disputes. They so ordered.

Alderman Kirby reported that the city treasurer desired that the counter in his quarters be moved, to give more room for doing business. It was estimated that the cost would not exceed $50. The committee was authorized to spend that amount.

Alderman Kirby asked that the street commissioner be authorized to lay a walk across Warner street at the west side of Gould street, where there is a great deal of crossing. The request was granted.

A plat of the vicinity of Bartlett court, drawn by the city engineer, was received and referred to the committee on straightening sidewalk lines now made possible by the moving of the old Congdon house.

Mayor MacLeod reported that

LARGE ANNUAL BALL.

Dancing Closes One of the Most Successful Horticultural Exhibits.

The Newport Horticultural Society Thursday evening closed one of its most successful exhibits with the annual ball in the dance pavilion at the beach. The proximity of the two buildings—the convention hall, in which the exhibits had taken place and was still in progress, and the dance pavilion—added much to the success of the ball. A covered passageway connected the two, so that the dancers could go from the floor to the convention hall for a brief rest or for refreshments, and to look at the exhibits of plants, which were still in full force.

No attempt was made to arrange floral decorations or special electrical displays in the dancing pavilion, but additional lights in red, white and blue, gave a pleasing effect. The attendance was one of the largest in the history of the society, fully 500 persons being present and a large proportion participating in the program of 24 dances, which included two Highland schottisches. Before the grand march Miss Elaine Meikle sang several elections. Miss Marion G. Dowling accompanying.

The grand march was led by Mr. John T. Allan, the flour manager, with Mrs. Allan, followed by Colonel Herbert Bliss with Miss Griffin, and a large number of couples, who at its conclusion entered without further ceremony into the enjoyment of the dancing. McCloskey's orchestra furnished popular music.

Mr. Allan as floor manager had Mr. William Allt as assistant and Messrs. William McKay, Hugh Meikle, John B. Urquhart, Frederick Carter and Herbert Bliss as aides.

The committee of arrangements consisted of Messrs. John T. Allan, Andrew S. Meikle, William F. Smith, William McKay, Frederick Carter, William Gray, John B. Urquhart, James Robertson and William Allt.

The reception committee was Messrs. A. K. McMahon, James McLeish, Alexander MacLellan, John T. Allan, Richard Gardner, James Sullivan, Bruce Butterton, James Robertson and Andrew S. Meikle.

BIG REEL AT OPERA HOUSE.

Headline Photo-Drama and Several Interesting Comedies on New Bill.

"A Woman Scorned, or The Last of the Old Mill", produced by the Great Northern Feature Film Company, will be the headline of the new bill at the Opera House today. It is a powerful and appealing photo-drama, with startling climaxes, including the fiery collapse of the old mill.

Besides this big reel there are several interesting comedies, among them a Bison civil war spectacle, "At Shiloh". This is one of the most spectacular military dramas ever produced, which is saying something when all the great war dramas of the previous twelve months are considered.

A Confederate lieutenant is surrounded while preparing for his marriage to a Southern girl. She hides him beneath a dress form and entertains the Federals, who enter the house a moment later. The Northern officer is made tipsy by the wine set before him, when the Confederate takes advantage of the other's condition to disguise himself in the Northerner's clothes and makes his escape. Later the couple are re-united.

"The Folly of it All," is a Powers drama, with Edwin August in the rol. A minister planning a surprise for his wife by building a home in the country, awakens her suspicions and jealousy, and consequences follow which hold the interest until the end.

"Some Luck" and "Hawkeye to the Rescue", two comedies also will be shown.

TROJANS' TASK HARD.

Newton Upper Falls Team to Bring Star Pitcher For Sunday's Game.

That the Newton Upper Fall base ball team will come to Newport Sunday with the object of winning from the Trojans, Manager Stanton made plain when he decided to pitch Jack Murray, his star left-hander, who has won 24 out of the 26 games he has pitched this season. Murray, who is considered the best semi-professional pitcher around Boston, has worked for the Newtons only when they met the very best teams on their long schedule. His great record, with that of the team makes the Trojans' task look like a hard one, as Newton has won 22 out of the 24 games played this season.

Yates, the hard-hitting catcher, will again play for Newton. Ryan, Maloney and Barnes will be on the bases; Donahue at short, and Halliday, Crawley and De Rusha in the outfield.

No team which has played here this season was on the bases so often as Newton on its former visit. They are a clever set of players, who bat, run bases and field in a "classy" manner, besides playing a snappy, up-to-date article of base ball.

MANY STRANGE SIGHTS.

Rhode Islanders Relate Interesting Incidents of Trip to Put-in-Bay.

Artillery Uniforms Attract Much Attention and Members Strew Pennants Broadcast.

It will be a long time before new bits of interest concerning the recent trip to Put-in-Bay will cease to be heard from the men, who were quite too weary to spin yarns on their arrival and are just beginning to recuperate enough to remember and relate incidents. There were many new and strange sights, for the Rhode Islanders.

Details of the Erie canal attracted their attention, as they were not used to horses drawing their own stables all day, and going into them to sleep at night, the stables being part of the canal boats.

Another item, which might be referred to the Civic League, perhaps, for renewed effort, was that in Detroit the swill is collected in the night, which would be a fine thing in Newport. Mules are used by the city of Detroit, and the streets are cleaned at night.

At Niagara the time was limited, but the visitors had a good look at the American falls, the horseshoe falls from the Canadian side and from the trolley along the river, still on the Canadian side, to Queenstown Heights. There is located the tall monument to Major General Sir Isaac Brock, K. C. B., provisional lieutenant governor of Upper Canada, who was killed by the Americans at the battle of Queenstown Heights, in October, 1812, as he was advancing to repel them. The Artillery did not have time to go up the hill to see it. Two or three of the party took chances and left the car to go up; they arrived back at the Falls barely in time not to be left behind. Crossing the river on one of the dizzy bridges, the "gorge route" was continued. Numerous cameras snapped as the party passed the dashing waters of the whirlpool rapids. From the American side they saw a man making the dangerous experiment of trying to row across the river above the falls; they did not see the result.

Another feature, so enjoyed that the party kept it up until voices were "all gone," was the singing on the boat. When they couldn't sing any more, they whistled. The little song books printed for the Artillery were in demand and the supply was completely exhausted. The Providence coast artillerymen (65 in number) and Naval Reserves, who formed a harmonious constituent of the party, joined in and received some of the books. Mrs. Max Levy proved a valuable member, indeed, for her services at the piano were of great assistance. She was even able to read an emergency manuscript copy of the music of the Van Zandt song, "Hurrah for Rhode Island," which Sergeant (and music committee) Frank W. King had received, with other patriotic songs from Mr. H. B. Wood, and pushed under his belt, as the company was drawn up, ready to leave Newport, on the morning of September 8. The song was liked, and so was the "Maple Leaf," Canada's national air, which, with "God save the King," the Artillery boys were ready to sing in any international courtesies. The Providence troops also had a Perry song.

In Detroit there was a fine ride on the 16-mile boulevard, including a trip to the zoo, where there are seven buffaloes and many other animals. Near by is the ball field, which is big enough to include 16 "diamonds." Another of the sights was a company of 30 Highlanders, in kilts, carrying three flags—American, Scotch and English—going over to the Canadian side, to the music of bagpipes and snare drums. The swath of the tornado which passed through Detroit was plainly seen, by the wrecks of houses, etc. The ten-minute crawl of the train through the streets of Syracuse was another incident remembered.

The Artillery members were constantly held up by anxious questioners, attracted by their uniform. They did not wear the big hats when on liberty. Two old Grand Army men, who said they were 76 and 82 respectively, told one of the members they had come from Denver to see the Artillery uniform. The member supplied each with one of the pennants, inscribed "1741, Newport Artillery," and the old veterans received them gladly. These pennants numbered in the neighborhood of 100 dozens when the company left Newport, and will probably be found strewn from the Atlantic to the Pacific, for people were met from Seattle and Los Angeles. They attained some altitude, too, for Lieutenant Colonel Sherman went up even a good deal higher than he can usually reach, with some of them. He took four and climbed 100 feet up the staging of the monument at Put-in-Bay (the monument is up but 50 feet as yet), and fixed the pennants at the top. He also adorned the top of the water tower. No other company carried distinctive pennants.

At Put-in-Bay, which is a place of 600 population, some pretty shells were picked up on the beach. The men
